HAMILTON-BROWN GIVES UP FIGHT ON LIQUIDATION

Board of Directors Joins Trustees in Recommending Shoe Firm Be Dissolved at Once.

NO REORGANIZATION IN SIGHT, BRIEF SAYS

$2,785,000 Deficit April 19 — 56-Year-Old Concern Once Largest Manufacturer of Kind in U. S.

Directors of the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. today joined the trustees for the once prosperous manufacturing concern in recommending immediate liquidation of the company. They filed a brief with United States District Judge George H. Moore in which they announced that they had given up their fight for continuing in business.

The brief presented a resolution passed at a directors' meeting Monday at which liquidation was favored because of "apparent lack of interest by the stockholders, undiminished contingent liabilities, no working capital, and no plan for reorganization in sight."

Directors present at the meeting were John S. Leahy, attorney for the company, John A. Ald, W. L. Collins, E. W. Morris and J. G. Louis.

Trustees for the company, James K. Vardaman Jr. and John W. Lake, had recommended immediate liquidation at a hearing before Judge Moore last Saturday. At that time Leahy asked for more time to present a possible reorganization plan. No immediate action on the reorganization plan was taken by the court and the hearing continued this afternoon.

Company Has 2850 Employees.

The company has six factories employing 2850 employees during normal operation. Two of the plants are in St. Louis and the others in Union, Columbia, Booneville and Poplar Bluff.

Founded 56 years ago, the company was at its peak during and after the World War. At one time its common stock sold for between $50 and $60 a share. For the 13 years prior to 1918, when the stock was worth $16, the average dividend earnings were 9 per cent. There are 200,000 shares of stock, of which 65 were sold today on the St. Louis Stock Exchange at 20 cents a share.

A detailed audit of the company, made available today to creditors, showed that the firm, which was once the largest shoe manufacturer in America, had lost $405,983 in the year and a half months before the Federal trustees took over. Having weathered two receiverships in the last nine years, the company had been operated since last July 16 by a syndicate headed by Collins.

$2,785,000 Total Deficit.

The profit and loss statement, part of the audit submitted to the trustees by the firm of Boyd, Cronk & Co., showed sales of $2,082,120 in the four and a half months. By adding the new deficit to the deficit of $1,138,232, shown on the books as of last Dec. 1, and the $1,221,566 which the trustees slashed from book value of assets, the auditors found a total deficit of $2,785,781 as of April 19.

After adjustments made by trustees, the audit showed total assets of $1,209,954, which included $17,830 in such deferred charges as unexpired insurance and possible returns from sale of assets of the John Bruce Co., a retail outlet chain. Against this the shown liabilities totaling $974,303 and an additional $100,000 for the estimated costs of the trusteeship.

The bulk of the assets, as shown by the audit, are inventories of $175,000, land, buildings and equipment valued at $306,788. The firm had only $3649 in cash on April 19. Accounts receivable, after deductions for assignments to the Commercial Factors Corporation and the First National Bank, creditors only $64,494 of the total $1,070,126 on the books.

In commenting on the Hamilton-Brown books showing the firm owing $42,820 to the Collins-Morris Shoe Co., also headed by Collins, the auditors remarked: "Because of the special relationship between the Collins-Morris Shoe Co. and the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co., a detailed investigation has been ordered by the trustees of transactions between those companies. That investigation is now in progress and pending its completion the account of the above company is stated as it is shown on the books."

JAPAN WARNED BY BRITAIN NOT TO MAKE ANY ATTEMPT TO RESTRICT RIGHTS IN CHINA

London Foreign Office Alarmed by New Demands at Tientsin and Reference to "New Order" in Orient.

LONDON, June 16 (AP).—The British Government declared today that any attempt to restrict British rights in China would bring "immediate and active steps" by Britain.

The Foreign Office took the unusual step of issuing a communiqué to express concern over statements by Japanese spokesmen that Japan demanded "that the British authorities co-operate with the Japanese in the construction of a 'new order' in the East."

The communiqué said: "British circles cannot but take a most serious view of the further demands which have been made affecting the rights of all those Powers which have treaty rights in China."

"They would mean the abandonment under threats of force of the policy which His Majesty's Government have followed in the past, which is the same as that of other great Powers with interests in the Far East."

"If Developments Foreshadow."

The communiqué was issued as the Japanese-British crisis in China continued, with the Japanese army blockading the British and French concessions in Tientsin.

"It is still hoped that the Japanese authorities may not maintain their refusal to give further consideration to the proposals which have been made to localize the incident," the communiqué continued.

"But if, unhappily, the new demands foreshadowed from official Japanese sources in North China should be persisted in, then it must be said at once that an extremely serious situation will arise and that the British Government will have to consider what immediate and active steps they can take for the protection of British interests in China."

What Caused Trouble.

The blockade of the British and French concessions at Tientsin grew out of the refusal of British authorities there to hand over four Chinese accused by Japanese of killing a local official. The British contended there was not sufficient evidence to justify surrender of the Chinese.

Britain failed in a last-minute effort to avert the blockade by offering to submit the question to a tribunal of one Japanese, one British and one neutral. The Japanese refused.

The communiqué said the British offer to submit the dispute to a tribunal had not yet been withdrawn, but added that "meanwhile far graver issues have been raised by statements emanating from local Japanese authorities in China."

Statements in Tientsin.

"Recently," it said, "it may be recalled that the British and French governments had found it necessary to make representations to the Department of Foreign Affairs in Tokyo regarding statements by a spokesman of the Japanese Ministry for Foreign Affairs which seriously threatened treaty rights of foreign Powers in China."

"Such statements have recently been sharpened in threatening manner by Japanese spokesmen in Tientsin. It is clear from these statements that the surrender of the four accused men is no longer regarded as the reason for imposition of measures against the British concession."

A concerted stand by Britain, France and the United States was thought by diplomatic observers today to be Britain's hope of settling the crisis.

The House cheered Prime Minister Chamberlain's statement yesterday that the United States was keeping in closest touch with the French and British Governments over the situation.

Britain, fearing the long open door to China trade might be slammed, kept Board of Trade experts busy evolving means of economic retaliation.

Representations at Tokyo.

Chamberlain said that Sir Robert Leslie Craigie, the Ambassador to Tokyo, was making representations to the Japanese Foreign Office and pointing out the dangers of provocation which might lead to "regrettable incidents."

The belief was widely held that the blockade was linked to axis (German-Italian) strategy as a direct action against Foreign Affairs in Moscow, China being the ninth, to complete an alliance with Soviet Russia.

Possible Retaliatory Moves.

The British press, discussing possible methods of retaliation against Japan, mentioned: Denunciation of the British-Japanese trade agreement, a special meeting of the League of Nations, and invocation of Article 7 of the Nine-Power Treaty which provides for consultations among the signatory nations when any Power wishes. (The eight Powers, China being the ninth, agreed "to respect the sovereignty."

BUCKNER WROTE M'NUTT AIDED HIM IN PHILIPPINES

Letter Read at Fraud Trial Says Commissioner Helped Obtain Confidential Army Reports.

THESE PERTAINED TO LOCAL OFFICIALS

Promoter Stated Captain Made Possible Approach to Quezon for Talks on Railway Bonds.

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP).—A letter in which William P. Buckner Jr., youthful broker and playboy, said Paul V. McNutt, High Commissioner to the Philippines, had helped him on a visit to the islands by obtaining confidential United States army reports on the personalities of local officials, was read in United States District Court today at Buckner's trial on mail fraud and conspiracy charges.

The letter was read as the Government turned from the frivolous side of Buckner's activities — he was accused yesterday of taking a "beauty lobby" to Washington to help his financial plans — to a visit Buckner made to the Philippines as chairman of the Philippine Railway Bondholders' Protective Committee.

Buckner communicated with Lee S. Walcott, London, Ontario, banker and a former member of the committee, to tell him what progress he was making.

Details of Buckner Letter.

McNutt, he wrote in December, 1937, helped him "to obtain access to various confidential reports of the United States army relating to personalities of certain Philippine officials as well as a study of the general Philippine psychology."

"Parenthetically," he wrote, "it should be said that the co-operation and consideration shown by Mr. McNutt came as a result of his personal esteem for the committee chairman, George Schein, who arranged the introduction to Mr. McNutt."

$100 Par Proposal Rejected.

Buckner, at the time, was trying to effect some kind of settlement of the bondholders' problem. He called on Capt. Thomas J. Dugan, chief of the Division of Investigation of the Department of Justice of the commonwealth, he said, and enlisted his aid.

"Capt. Dugan," he wrote, "enjoys the implicit trust of the leaders of the Philippine Government, and through him an approach to President Quezon and the Philippine National party and acting Speaker of the Legislature, was made possible."

"Both of these men have been convinced of the merits of our contention and have, therefore, agreed that the bonds must be purchased by the Philippine Government."

Buckner's letter said the offer of the bonds at par—$100—had been rejected in the Philippines, but there was indicated a willingness to have a bill passed in the Legislature providing for payment at 65.

The court, which had watched Buckner smile yesterday as the story of the Washington "beauty lobby" was unfolded, listened gravely as Walcott offered testimony tending to show that Buckner had considered giving railway bonds with a par value of $200,000 to Buencamino, if he would aid in obtaining the favorable legislation.

FRENCH SUBMARINE LOST WITH 63 MEN ABOARD AT INDO-CHINA NAVAL BASE

Sister Ship of Sunken Submarine Phenix

PHENIX DOES NOT COME TO SURFACE AFTER TRIAL DIVE IN CAM-RANH BAY

Boat in Deep Water; Position Not Determined — Ships of the Naval Station and Planes Are Trying to Spot It.

LITTLE HOPE HELD FOR RESCUE OF MEN

Proper Equipment Unavailable — Vessel Lost More Than 30 Hours — It Is Bigger Than British Thetis or U. S. Squalus.

PARIS, June 16 (AP). — The French submarine Phenix, with four officers and 59 men aboard, failed to reappear after a dive yesterday morning off the coast of French Indo-China and has been missing since, the Navy Minister announced tonight.

Naval officials held little hope for the rescue of the crew. Although the exact hour of the dive was not disclosed, the craft is believed to have been down about 30 hours at the time of the first announcement about 7 p. m. tonight (noon St. Louis time).

The Phenix went down in unusually deep water in the Bay of Cam-Ranh, and proper rescue equipment is said to be unavailable.

Report on Accident.

The accident was disclosed in a Navy Ministry communiqué reading as follows:

There is serious anxiety concerning the fate of the first-class submarine Phenix, at present attached to Indo-China.

After a dive carried out during exercises the morning of June 15 off the Bay of Cam-Ranh, the submarine did not reappear.

The Far Eastern naval forces as well as unattached ships of the navy in Indo-China immediately began searches which still continue. Scaphanes in the colony are also participating.

Informed immediately, the Navy Ministry notified the families of the members of the crew.

At Cam-Ranh Bay, on the southeast coast of Indo-China, France is building a large naval base to bulwark the defense of French interests in the Far East. Progress on the base has been speeded since Japan's invasion of China began two years ago.

Reception Called Off.

Cam-Ranh Bay is one of the deepest in the China Sea. The mountains of Eastern Indo-China drop down to the coast sharply. Cam-Ranh is 225 miles north of Saigon at the easternmost extremity of the Indo-China peninsula.

The Phenix is commanded by Lieutenant-Commander O. M. Boucharot. The other three officers aboard are a Lieutenant and two Ensigns.

The submarine had been based at Saigon.

At Elysée Palace, the presidential residence, it was announced that a reception scheduled to be given tomorrow afternoon by President Albert Lebrun for the Sultan of Morocco had been canceled because of "the disturbing news of the disaster" to the Phenix.

In Parliament circles it was said the communiqué was held up while the families of the men aboard were advised.

France has just opened negotiations with the United States for four diving bells similar to the one used in the rescue of 33 of the Squalus' crew.

Fourth Disaster This Year.

This was the fourth submarine accident in a navy Power this year. The United States Navy submarine Squalus sank with a loss of 26 lives off the New Hampshire coast May 23 and the British submarine Thetis sank with a loss of 99 lives — the greatest disaster in submarine history — June 1.

Thirty-three men were rescued from the Squalus by use of a diving bell.

MURPHY URGES PUBLIC PAYROLLS BE CUT BILLION

Advocates Reduction From 4,000,000 Federal, State and Local Workers to Less Than 3,000,000.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 16 (AP).—Urging an end "to the ancient practice of passing out Government jobs in payment of political debts," Attorney-General Murphy asserted last night the Government payroll was not "a legitimate field for charity and benevolence toward special groups and persons who lack qualification for public service."

"Both notions," he said in a radio address, "are unsound, poor political science and above all, poor public economy."

Speaking to the Eastern Regional Conference of the Civil Service Assembly of the United States and Canada, Murphy advocated a billion dollar "operation on the public payroll" because "I maintain that instead of 4,000,000 employees, less than 3,000,000 should be plenty; and instead of a payroll of six billion dollars per year, less than five billion should suffice."

$200 a Year Per Family.

He said the six billion dollars in salaries to national, state and local Government workers made the cost to the average family $200 a year, or more than 13 per cent of its income.

"I am sure," he continued, "you will agree with me that 13 per cent of a family's annual income for the public payroll is too much. Either the public payroll should be reduced. And at this moment the most immediately promising step seems to be an operation on the public payroll." He added, however:

"In saying that our public payrolls should be reduced, I am not proposing drastic curtailment of governmental functions and activities. On the contrary, I am strongly of the opinion that every governmental function—national, state and local—which is clearly necessary to protect the physical and mental security of our people should be continued."

Graft and Waste.

He contended that a large percentage of public jobs was controlled by machine politics and special interest groups whose opposition, together "with public ignorance of . . . inefficiency, graft and waste resulting from the spoils system, has been enough to undermine virtually every substantial effort to establish and enforce sound personnel management in our Government."

Asserting there was still a "broad and fertile field for civil service reform," Murphy observed: "Perhaps the public has been apathetic—as it so often is about reforms of the less spectacular variety. Perhaps those who have a stake in the spoils system have been skilful and energetic enough to ward off a sweeping reform."

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., HOUSE IS SOLD TO FATHER DIVINE

Attorney for Exclusive Suburb Says Something Must Be Done to Get Negroes Out.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., June 16 (AP).—Father Divine, Negro cult leader, established a new "heaven" in a three-story mansion in exclusive Sutton Manor yesterday.

His "angels" invaded the section yesterday, armed with mops and brooms to recondition the mansion, obtained by Miss Harriet E. Cripe, white follower of Father Divine, in a sale by the Chase National Bank.

"Give me a cigarette so I can stand the shock," said Judge Lee Parsons Davis, who lives in a big house just across the road. Digging into his law books, Corporation Counsel Aaron Simmons of New Rochelle said "something" will have to be done to get them out."

DEATH OF BRITON IN SHANGHAI LAID TO 'HIS OWN RASH ACT'

Coroner Also Blames Japanese Sentry, ho Boarded Car That Didn't Halt for Collision.

SHANGHAI, June 16 (AP).—A British Coroner concluded today a long inquest in the death of Dr. Bertram Lillie, prominent British educator, with a verdict that the automobile collision in which he was killed resulted from "his own rash act" and the "foolish action" of a Japanese sentry.

An automobile driven by Dr. Lillie collided with a Japanese bus April 24. Japanese authorities said the crash followed Dr. Lillie's refusing to halt at a sentry's order. The sentry, in jumping on the running board of the car, contributed to the accident, the Coroner held.

MISSOURI SENATE KILLS RECIPROCITY ON TRUCKING FEES

Lobby Backed by $15,000 Agitates for Reconsideration—Action on Bill Delayed Until Monday.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 16.—Action on the truck regulation and licensing bill, from which the Senate yesterday struck a provision for reciprocity between Missouri and other states, was postponed today until Monday. The reciprocity provision was the "favorable" legislation for the promotion of which the Missouri Truck Men's Association raised a fund of approximately $15,000.

After the truck lobby had suffered its decisive defeat, lobbyists representing the common carrier and contract carrier trucking interests, became exceedingly busy around the Capitol with a view to attempting to have the action reconsidered.

The subject was not brought up in the Senate today, but an amendment was introduced by Senator Phil M. Donnelly of Lebanon proposing to strike out everything in the pending bill except the licensing provision. In this he proposed to leave common carrier permit fees at their present rates and to charge contract carriers half the common carrier rates. The regulatory provisions of the present law would be continued under Donnelly's proposal.

Proposes Complete Change.

The amendment which was a long one and proposed a complete change in the bill afforded a reason for postponement, and was taken advantage of by the supporters of the legislation desired by the trucking interests, though Donnelly is opposed to reciprocity and offered his amendment for the purpose of saving at least the contract carrier licensing provisions at a time when it appeared the entire bill would be defeated and the contract carriers escape without paying any permit fees.

The Senate yesterday passed one truck bill, increasing the license plate fees of all trucks above one-ton capacity, and doubling the license plate fees on the larger trucks. This is expected to provide about $800,000 additional revenue annually for the State Highway Department.

It kept in the regulatory bill a provision under which trucks operated solely within municipalities and their suburban areas would be exempt from State permit fees and State regulation. This exemption will reduce the fees which the State would collect from these trucks, if they were not exempted, about $200,000 a year.

McDowell's Suggestion.

The private carriers, those hauling only the goods of their owners, were relieved of the proposed special permit fees in an amendment offered by Senator James C. McDowell of Charleston, leaving

INSURANCE FIRMS MEET TO COMPARE ANNUITY SCALES

Uniformity of Rates Object of Frequent Conferences, New York Life Man Testifies.

ASSERTS HE SERVES AS 'CLEARING HOUSE'

Destroys Notes of Sessions Each Year With Other Records He Regards as of 'No Importance.'

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—The Federal Monopoly Committee heard today that actuaries of more than 20 of the largest insurance companies held frequent meetings for the purpose of arriving at uniform rates for annuity contracts.

Arthur Hunter, chief actuary for the New York Life Insurance Co., testified that he usually presided at the meetings in the New York Life offices, and served as a "clearing house" for exchanging information on annuity contract experience.

Hunter told the committee that although an entirely uniform premium rate program did not result from the meetings, their purpose was primarily to bring about "greater and greater uniformity."

The witness said he had destroyed his own notes of the meetings "in the regular course of business" each year along with other records he regarded as of "no importance."

A Massachusetts official told the committee yesterday that savings banks' life insurance in that state has proved cheaper than policies offered by life insurance companies.

Judd Dewey, deputy commissioner of savings bank life insurance, testified that in its 30 years the Massachusetts plan has operated at a lower cost, better mortality experience and a lower lapse record than that of insurance companies.

Dewey attributed the lower cost to elimination of agents' commission, more efficient conduct of business by the banks.

Dewey asserted that agents for private companies had attacked bank insurance with "constant misrepresentation" and had sought to inspire fear in policyholders' minds that the banks might fail, destroying their policies.

Clarence B. Plantz, assistant vice-president of the New York Savings Bank, said that the results of his bank's insurance department under a newly enacted New York law were "far beyond anything we had planned on."

bell, but only four men who rose to the surface with Davis lung apparatus escaped from the Thetis.

The Japanese submarine I-63 was lost with 81 men Feb. 2 of this year following a collision in Bungo Straits, 400 miles northwest of Tokyo. The I-63 collided with the submarine I-16. Six officers who were on the bridge of the I-63 saved themselves by leaping into the sea as the craft sank.

The Phenix in some respects is the largest of the three.

She is the oldest. The others, brand new, sank in test runs. The Phenix, commissioned nine years ago, went down while on a tour of duty.

The Phenix is 302.5 feet long compared with 292 feet for the Squalus and 265 for the Thetis.

She weighed 1379 tons on the surface and displaced 2060 tons submerged. The surface displacement of the Thetis was 1085 tons, but the Squalus—although shorter—was heavier, displacing 1450 tons.

Of "Redoubtable" Class.

The Phenix belonged to the so-called "Redoubtable" class of French navy submarines, named for the prototype of a large group built over a period of more than 10 years.

She was powered with two Diesel engines capable of a surface speed of 17 knots. Her full complement was 67 men.

Armament included a 3.9-inch anti-aircraft gun, two machine-guns and 10 21.7-inch torpedo tubes.

Neither the Squalus nor the Thetis has been raised.

The Phenix is a 2000-ton submarine launched April 12, 1930, one of four ships laid down under the 1927 building program.

Record of Submarine Disasters; More Than 1000 Died

By the Associated Press.

More than 1000 men have died in submarine disasters.

The sinking of four undersea craft to great Powers this year has caused the loss of more than 200 lives since Jan. 1.

The greatest submarine catastrophe in history occurred June 1 in Liverpool Bay when the British submarine "Thetis" sank. Ninety-nine men perished and only four escaped.

The United States submarine Squalus—like the Thetis a new craft—sank May 23, off the coast of New Hampshire with 59 men aboard. Thirty-three were saved by a diving bell and 26 died.

Neither the Thetis nor the Squalus so far has been raised.

First of the disasters this year was the loss of the Japanese submarine I-63, 400 miles southwest of Tokyo, Feb. 2, with 81 dead.

The most costly submarine disaster in the United States was the collision in 1927 of the S-4 and the coast guard vessel Paulding in Provincetown Bay in which 40 men were killed.

A collision off Block Island, R. I., also sent the S-51 to the bottom in 1925 with a loss of 33 lives. The F-4, first of the United States' modern pre-war submarine fleet, sank in Honolulu Bay in 1915 with a loss of 21 lives and a sister ship, the F-1, went to destruction in San Diego harbor in 1917, carrying 19 men to death.

Among foreign submarine disasters in the last decade were:

1936, Dec. 12. Spanish submarine sunk off Malaga by a torpedo; 47 reported lost.

1935, July 25. The Russian submarine E-3, in the Baltic Sea after a collision; 55 lost.

1932, Jan. 28. The British submarine M-2, off Portland Bill, England; 60 lost.

1932, July 7. The French submarine Promethee, off Cherbourg, France; 82 lost.

1931, May 22. A Russian submarine during maneuvers in the Baltic with a reported heavy death toll.

1931, June 9. The British submarine Poseidon, after a collision off the China coast; 20 lost.

1931, Oct. 24. Russian submarine, in the Gulf of Finland; 50 reported lost.

1929, July 9. British submarine H-47, in collision with its sister ship, the submarine L-12; 21 lives lost.

GIRL, 12, MURDERED; BODY PUT IN CULVERT

Nashville, Tenn., Police Seek Killer Who Assaulted, Strangled Child.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 16 (AP).—A search was under way today for the murderer of Marian Ellis, 12 years old, school girl whose body was found late last night in a culvert near her home.

A brother, Jim Ellis, found the body after she had been missing 12 hours. Officers said the killer apparently had assaulted the girl, then tied a cord about her throat, gagged her with her own clothing, and stuffed the body in the culvert.

The girl left her home about 10:30 a. m. Thursday to get a book at the neighboring Henry Singer home with her sister, Gertrude, 11. Later, Marion left for home, reading the book as she walked down the road alone. She was never seen alive again.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ellis, who own a small farm at the edge of Nashville.

District Attorney-General J. Carlton Loser reported Henry Singer told officers neighbors had asked him to help find the girl, who has been driving around here lately trying to pick up little girls.

BARON VON CRAMM SAYS U. S. REFUSES HIM VISA FOR VISIT

Former Davis Cup Tennis Star Had Planned to Play at Forest Hills.

BRISTOL, England, June 16 (AP).—Baron Gottfried von Cramm, Germany's former Davis Cup tennis star, said today United States Embassy officials in Germany had refused him a visa to visit America next fall.

The onetime top-ranking German player said he had intended to play in the United States championships at Forest Hills Sept. 7-16.

Von Cramm said he was not complaining about the United States decision, however, and in no way would be to bring pressure on anybody to get the decision altered.

(The Baron was released Oct. 16 from prison where he had served seven months of a one-year sentence on conviction of immorality. The remainder of the sentence was suspended for two years during which he "must prove himself worthy of this act of mercy.")

Von Cramm is competing at present in the west of England championships.

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP).—Three men seized Thomas McGrath, 60 years old, a bank messenger, and robbed him of $10,000 in securities, including some Government bonds today as he was en route from the Merchants' National Bank to the Federal Reserve Bank.

ROOSEVELTS SEND PARTING WORD AS KING, QUEEN SAIL

President Tells Their Majesties of "Extreme Pleasure" Their Visit Gave Him and Nation.

By Canadian Press.

BOARD THE EMPRESS OF BRITAIN, June 16—Farwell wishes coupled with an expression of the "extreme pleasure" with which the royal visit was received in the United States have been sent to King George VI and Queen Elizabeth by President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

The message, sent to the King and Queen last night on their departure from Halifax and disclosed today by the King's attendants, said:

"I cannot allow you and the Queen to sail for home without expressing once more the extreme pleasure which your all-too-brief visit to the United States gave us. The warmth of the welcome accorded you everywhere you visited in this country was the spontaneous outpouring of Americans who were deeply touched by the tact and graciousness and understanding hearts of our guests."

"I shall always like to think that you felt the sincerity of this manifestation of the friendship of the American people."

"Mrs. Roosevelt joins me in parting felicitations to Your Majesties and best wishes for a safe and pleasant voyage."

The Empress of Britain was speeding along at 24 knots after being held up slightly by misty patches earlier in the morning.

With its Canadian destroyer escorts, it slowed down a few knots in short stretches of fog for fear of encountering small fishing vessels, many of which travel this route to and from the fishing banks.

At 24 knots it was estimated the liner with its royal passengers would reach Conception Bay, Newfoundland, at 6 p. m. (St. Louis time).

150,000 Shout Canada's Farewell at Halifax.

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, June 16 (AP).—With King George saluting from the bridge and Queen Elizabeth both standing on a stool and waving in excitement to a cheering crowd of 150,000 which shouted a farewell, the liner Empress of Britain sailed for England last night, bringing to an end the epochal tour of the first British sovereign to visit America.

Not tall enough for much of her figure to show above the railing, Queen Elizabeth yielded to cries from the crowd to stand up higher, as the steamer was about to sail, and mounted a stool provided by an officer.

The King stood at her side, his face alternately serious and wreathed in smiles, as the crowd cheered and sang "Auld Lang Syne," "God Save the King" and "Tipperary."

FURTHER DEMANDS BY JAPANESE ARMY

TOKYO, June 16 (AP).—Japan's terms for settlement of the Tientsin controversy are unconditional surrender by the British on all issues involved, authoritative sources indicated today.

North China army authorities who are handling the case (which has become in effect a test of prestige in the Orient) already have decided on this stand, informants agreed.

The Tientsin officials are acting more or less independently of the Tokyo Government, and Lieutenant-General Seishiro Itagaki, War Minister, summoned four of his Cabinet colleagues (the Premier, Navy, Foreign and Finance ministers) to be advised of the Tientsin decision.

Itagaki and Prince General Kotochiro Kanin, chief of the General Staff, reported to the Emperor on the situation at Tientsin since Japanese Wednesday established a blockade of the British and French concessions.

A Foreign Office informant said Tatsu Kawai, official spokesman of the Japanese Foreign Office, "stated the case quite clearly" and declared no further negotiations with the British were likely.

Kawai declared in a Haikung, Manchukuo, interview that "the days of foreign concessions in China are numbered," because they "are relics of the days when China was a quasi-colony of the Western Powers."

British Guarantee Sought.

The Tokyo spokesman declared the "situation has gone beyond the mere question of surrender of the four culprits. What military authorities are determined to get now is a guarantee in terms of Britain's readiness to co-operate in the future."

"For the time being there is nothing to do but await developments."

Japanese dispatches from Tientsin today said British authorities had ordered two naval vessels to steam from nearby ports with full loads of food for the Japanese-blockaded British concession of Tientsin.

Domei, Japanese news agency, reported the British ships were to sail from Chinwangtao, 200 miles northeast, and Weihaiwei, 300 miles southeast of Tientsin. The agency asserted that the British Consul-General intended to have the food brought in as military supplies and then distribute it among residents of the blockaded concession.

To reach Tientsin the British ships would have to steam some 25 miles up the Hai River, where Japanese naval forces have been in control.

Two Chinese Handling Food Into British Area Killed.

TIENSIN, June 16 (AP).—Two Chinese handling food into the British area were killed.

ish concession were reported shot dead this morning by Japanese guards blockading the foreign area to press demands for full British "co-operation" in China.

The incident occurred near United States marine barracks. The informant who reported the incident said the Chinese were caught as they handed up a basket of vegetables.

There was some lessening of tension despite this first report of fatalities since the Japanese established their guard about the British and French concessions Wednesday morning.

The Japanese, however, continued to search persons entering or leaving the concessions. New demands advanced by the Japanese emphasized that the dispute—originally over the refuge given four Chinese wanted by the Japanese—was becoming one involving Britain's whole policy in China.

French Obtain Food.

Considerable food was taken into the concessions last night, most of it going to the French markets, since the Chinese apparently were avoiding too close association with the British.

Some quarters expressed concern over possible developments tomorrow, should the Japanese carry out plans to parade into the British concession to lay flowers on the graves of Japanese heroes of the Boxer uprising. It was considered unlikely, however, that the British would permit large numbers of Japanese to enter the concession.

Japanese informants outlined four conditions for possible settlement of the Tientsin dispute:

1. Punishment by the British of "terrorists."

2. Strict control of anti-Japanese organizations in the concessions.

3. Cessation of "economic disturbances" in North China.

4. Immediate delivery of about 50,000,000 Chinese dollars (about $8,000,000) now in the concessions. This money belonged to the Chinese Nationalist Government, deposited before the war.

Japanese Broaden Demands.

The Japanese yesterday broadened their claims.

The British Consul-General, Edgar G. Jamieson, countered with charges the Japanese were "discriminating against the British from among the foreign community" by harassing searches and halting and molesting British shipping.

To Jamieson's demands for "an immediate reply" the Japanese repeated that their "strong attitude will be continued until British authorities completely change their pro-Chiang Kai-shek attitude."

An additional 200 marines were stationed at Chinwangtao where the United States cruiser Augusta, flagship of Admiral Harry Yarnell, Commander-in-Chief of the American Asiatic fleet, was lying while the Admiral was in Peiping on an inspection tour—a trip scheduled before the present tension.

Admiral Yarnell's Words.

A large part of the Asiatic fleet was summering in nearby ports, including the cruiser Marblehead at Tsingtao and several destroyers at Chefoo. The warcraft could easily reach Tangku, port at the mouth of the Hai River about 25 miles from Tientsin, if it became necessary to remove American citizens.

Prior to his departure for Peiping, Yarnell told the American community at Shanghai, "our naval forces in the Far East are responsible for your protection and will carry out that responsibility so far as is humanly possible within the reach of our forces ashore and the range of our guns."

Four hundred Americans live at Tientsin, mostly in the British and French concessions. The American investment at Tientsin is small except for a few banks. Most of the Americans are engaged in import and export trading.

The marines here is part of the former Peiping embassy guard which was moved to Tientsin last year to replace the Fifteenth Infantry, withdrawn after being stationed in North China since the Boxer rebellion of 1900.

British Officers Go to Singapore to Confer With French.

HONGKONG, June 16 (AP).—Britain's ranking army and navy commanders in the China area departed today for Singapore, where informed persons believed British-French talks on defense of the Powers' interests in the Far East would take place shortly.

The departure coincided with tension between the two European nations and Japan over Japanese blockades of the British and French concessions in Tientsin and the International Settlement at Amoy.

Aboard his flagship, the cruiser Kent, Vice-Admiral Sir Percy Noble, commander of British China squadron, and Major-General A. E. Grasett, commanding British troops in China, sailed from Hongkong for Britain's great Far Eastern naval base.

At Singapore they will meet French army, navy and air force commanders from French Indo-China, who have been invited to inspect the Singapore base.

It was because of the close liaison which exists between Britain and France in Europe.

HULL SAYS AMERICANS FEEL PINCH IN TIENSIN

Consul-General in China Reports Shortage of Milk and Vegetables.

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—Secretary of State Hull reported today the foreign colony at Tientsin, China, had begun to feel the pinch of Japan's blockade of the British and French concessions.

He disclosed contents of a dispatch from Consul-General John K. Caldwell, which said there was a shortage of such foodstuffs as milk and green vegetables.

Hull said he was awaiting further information from American representatives in China and Japan before taking any step in addition to the expression of this Government's concern made yesterday by the Japanese Foreign Office by American Charge d'Affaires, Eugene H. Dooman.

Blockade at Kulungau.

Hull disclosed that Consul Karl MacVitty, at Amoy, China, had reported a food blockade at the International Settlement at Kulungau.

MacVitty said that while the food situation at present was not serious due to reserve supplies, it might become so. He added that the wood for cooking was limited and would have to be replenished shortly.

There are 400 Americans at Tientsin and between 50 and 60 at Kulungau.

However, Caldwell reported that, so far, no case of serious delay of interference with Americans or American cargo had been reported to the Consul-General at Tientsin.

MacVitty said that while the food situation at present was not serious due to reserve supplies, it might become so. He added that the wood for cooking was limited and would have to be replenished shortly.

Nothing New to Say.

After reading the gist of the dispatches from the two consular representatives, Hull told his press conference that naturally the State Department was observing the developments in China with interest and careful attention.

When reference was made to the statement in a British communiqué today that the United States had agreed to nominate a member to a mediation commission in the Tientsin trouble, Hull said there was nothing new for him to say.

Secretary Hull told reporters yesterday that exchanges of information were going on between the United States, Great Britain and France, but that there was no plan for the United States to participate in joint action with the other two nations.

INQUIRY ON THE CUT OFF PAYROLL AT KANSAS

Their Checks Indorse Reilly & Co., Loan Headed by Former to Rico Governor.

DETECTIVE TELLS OF GETTING

Manager Zachman's Dismissal by Mond All on Payroll Notually Employed.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 16 (AP).—City Manager Eugene Zachman ordered an investigation today after removing from the payroll the names of three who could not be found. Checks listed on the city works payroll showed they were indorsed by "Reilly & Co." and "Loan Firm," headed by Mont Reilly, Governor of Rico under President Harding.

His offices near the city hall, I never cashed a city or pay check in my life," Reilly "unless it was in payment of loan."

A check of city warrants also disclosed that five made out to other names. Public works payroll had been each month for several preceding the recent change managers to the home of F. Rogers, city detective, who bodyguard and secretary for in Puerto Rico.

Says Reilly Asked Him to Reveal Names of Men Who Were Paid by City.

Reilly asked him to reveal names of men who were paid by the city, he said. Reilly termed Rogers' statement "most amazing" and "almost unbelievable."

Reilly said he kept no permanent record of loans to city employees, but that there was nothing new for him to say.

Secretary Hull told reporters yesterday that exchanges of information were going on between the United States, Great Britain and France, but that there was no plan for the United States to participate in joint action with the other two nations.

Bakery Owner Fined.

The payroll inquiry also extended to Thomas Kapsenalis, bakery owner and president of the Democratic Club. Kapsenalis, a city payroll investigator, was fined $100 for working a day time. He said six men ran his bakery so completely was not needed there.

N. W. Hyland, Assistant Director of Public Works, said Kapsenalis was listed as night watchman at Public Works barn, and if cleaning streets in the day was from sheer love of seeing less thoroughfares.

Zachman ordered the owner fired on the ground that he was doing no work for city salary.

Payroll Cleanup Ordered.

Zachman also ordered the charge by Monday of every on the city payroll who is not actually employed. He instructed the legal department to re-examine the city's payroll irregularities the Jackson grand jury if evidence of warrants such action.

On his arrival at the City, Zachman called to his office, Marc K. Brown Jr., City Counselor; A. L. McCormick, Assistant City Attorney; and F. W. Murray, Director of the Public Works Department.

Murray draws $8000 a year, the city for directing its work as Missouri's WPA director. To the four officials summoned to his office, Zachman later said: "This kind of thing can't be done. I've discharged in the last month more than 1000 men on their jobs for bread and for their families. If you think are going to stand for phony payrolls, or for money to persons who do not work, you've got another coming."

Tracing McElroy Fund.

Meanwhile agents of the finance unit of the United States Treasury are at work at City in the office of the Commission Accounts. They are reported investigating the city's 10-year fund of former City Manager F. McElroy to determine the money came from and where it went.

Since the overthrow of the administration several weeks inspired by clamor for a settlement of city business affairs, the Boss Tom Pendergast machine political machine, which has disclosed millions of dollars passed through the city fund.

All efforts of Mayor Brannan and City Manager Zachman to trace the money have been unsuccessful.

The Treasury agents, it is reported, are checking the city's books to learn where the income tax evasion may have been.

NEW YORK STATE CAN'T TAX NON-RESIDENTS' SECURITIES

Death Levies Imposed Due to State Constitution, Commission Rules.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 16 (AP).—The State Tax Commission ruled today that, despite a recent Supreme Court decision, New York cannot impose death taxes on intangible property (securities) held in this State by non-residents. The commission, in an open letter to a New York City law firm, said New York State "through a constitutional guarantee, assures the non-resident that during his life securities will not be taxed, that his interest and dividend income will not be taxed, and that no death tax will be imposed if he dies."

The United States Supreme Court ruled May 26 in a 5-4 decision that taxes may be imposed on securities both by a State in which the deceased person had his domicile and by other states in which the property was located.

"I intend to put her in jail until she understands what a restraining order means," the Judge said. However, he granted her attorney time to petition for a writ of prohibition—in effect, an appeal from the contempt order—before imposing a jail sentence.

ROOSEVELT TELLS OF PLAN FOR RAIL EQUIPMENT LOANS

R F C Subsidiary Would Build and Lease It to Roads or Money Would Be Lent Outright.

By RAYMOND F. BRANDT
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 16. — Details of a new Federal spending program have advanced to such a stage that President Roosevelt is considering the practicability of setting up another subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to build and lease equipment to the railroads.

At his press conference today the President, while denying that such a sum as two billion dollars was contemplated in the program under discussion, disclosed that the Government is considering the search for "self-sustaining" projects which would put idle men and idle dollars to work. He emphasized that the expenditures would be through existing lending agencies and would be kept out of the regular budget.

Silly Not Comment.

A little later the President said that he personally favored broadening of the individual income tax base by lowering exemptions, but characterized as silly not those editorialists which declared that increased revenue from this source would pay off the national debt. These expressions, he asserted, were examples of a political editorial attitude. He frankly doubted whether Congress would broaden the income tax base or increase the rates in the middle brackets.

He also said that he favored the objectives of the Hatch bill to limit political activities of Federal officeholders, but he said that the measure, as it was passed by the Senate, was badly drawn and needed revision of its language. As the bill now reads, he continued, members of Congress might be prejudged from conducting a campaign. He observed that everyone agreed that relief should be kept out of politics, as he endorsed in general the provisions in the pending relief bill to prevent the political dragooning of relief beneficiaries.

He laughed off a query as to whether he would sign a relief bill which contains the drastic limitations written in by the House Appropriations Committee, saying this was a very "silly" question. The best answer, he added, was that the bill which would be presented for his signature would not contain all these limitations.

On the spending program, the President said that studies regarding railroad equipment loans had developed differences of opinion as to methods. One plan advanced, he explained, involved the lending of money to the railroads to build or buy equipment; the other contemplated setting up of a new corporation under the RFC to build the equipment to be leased to the railroads.

The latter method, he continued, had the advantage that the title to the property remained with the Federal Government so that if any of the railroads became insolvent the Government would still own the equipment and could lease it to the receivers.

In the past some of the RFC loans to railroads have been jeopardized by insolvencies. One of the problems raised is whether the Government has prior claims in such case. The new corporation plan was designed to meet this difficulty.

Asked if new legislation would be sought at this session of Congress for the spending and lending program, the President said he did not know, and then added that, if such legislation were asked for, it would be of a minor character.

Most of the problems, he said, could be met by raising the present top limitations of loans put on existing lending agencies.

Twice during the discussion on this subject he said the money advanced by the Government would be kept out of the regular budget. He said that the Government-sponsored, self-liquidating toll roads had not been discussed during the recent financial conferences.

When he was asked about broadening of the income tax base, the President pointed out that nothing had been said one way or the other on this topic in his discussions with congressional leaders.

Base Broadening Views.

When a reporter bluntly asked what his views were on the subject, the President said he believed the base should be broadened a little, not because much revenue would be obtained but because it would make more people feel the responsibilities of citizenship.

A lot of silly editorialists had been written, he continued, which would lead the readers to believe that, if the exemptions were cut down to $800 for single persons and to $1200 for families, the resulting increase in revenue would pay off the national debt. These editorial writers, he said, did not realize that the cost of collecting the income taxes would rise if the base were broadened.

The President said he had not read Attorney-General Murphy's speech last night in which this young New Dealer declared a billion dollars could be saved each year in Federal, State and local governments by more efficient administration. Asked if he agreed with Murphy that the public payrolls should not be used to pay political debts, Roosevelt smiled as he declared that the practice was diminishing.

Under the present law the special fees have been charged against common carriers only, a constitutional provision which expired last December having prohibited any fees except the license plate fees being charged other classes of trucks than common carriers.

With the expiration of the constitutional prohibition, the proposed legislation covering contract and private carriers was prepared. Taking advantage of this situation, the large trucking interests sought to obtain reciprocity legislation, under which trucks owned outside of Missouri would not be charged special permit fees in Missouri if Missouri-owned trucks were relieved of similar fees in other states.

Says $20,000 Was Raised.

A fund, which June R. Rose of Jefferson City, attorney for the truck association, estimated at between $12,000 and $15,000, was raised by contributions from truck owners to promote the passage of the bill. Representatives of the association have refused to disclose how this money was expended other than to say that it was used to pay attorneys to draft bills and for general expenses of their representatives in Jefferson City.

Senator Paul C. Jones of Kennett said on the floor yesterday that his information was that $20,000 had been raised.

"The raising of this money," he said, "has resulted in stigma being cast on this bill. Some of the truckmen who paid money into the fund were led to believe that if the bill was not passed they would get a refund."

Jones proposed the amendment which eliminated the reciprocity provision of the bill, and it was passed by a vote of 17 to 13.

and short term needs of business were now being met in their areas and they questioned the need for Governmental action.J. H. Perkins, chairman of the board of the National City Bank of New York, said "many of the

"The idea that the way to prosperity is to make it easy for peo-

the test of experience."A Philadelphia banker, William R. Kurtz, president of the Pennsylv-loans of up to 10 years, provided by the Mead bill, "may turn out to be severe headaches later."Heads of divisions of state and national banks in the A. B. A. also opposed the insured loan proposal.

H. E. Cook, Bucyrus (O.) head of the A. B. A.'s national bank division, said present difficulties resulted from "unwillingness of individuals and business to borrow" rather than unwillingness of banks or investors to lend.H. W. Koenke, Ponca City, Ok., head of the State bank division,

WOULD LIMIT CHICAGO TAVERNS

Council Committee Proposes Reduction of 2000 in Number.
CHICAGO, June 16 (AP).—An estimated 2000 taverns in Chicago would be closed if an amendment to the city's liquor ordinance, approved by the City Council License Committee yesterday, is passed by the Council.
The amendment provides that the number of taverns be limited to one for each 500 persons. Officials estimated the city's population at 3,667,700 would allow on that basis for 7335 taverns, as compared with approximately 9400 now in operation. The committee also moved to make liquor licenses transferable and limit liquor sales to taverns and bona fide package stores to the exclusion of department and other stores now handling liquor as a side line.

Writer Flying Ocean Thinks Wife Might at Least Worry

'That's Fine,' She Says When He Breaks News About 'Preview' Trip, 'How Do You Want Your Potatoes?'

THE Associated Press aviation editor is going to fly to Europe tomorrow on a "preview" trip prior to the establishment of regular passenger service. He has just broken the news to the little woman.

By DEVON FRANCIS

NEW YORK, June 16.—When I got home last night I said to my wife, "Irene, I want you to get my store clothes pressed and wash me a pair of socks because I am going to fly to Europe Saturday."

Then I waited calmly for her to faint. I had it all figured out what I would do when she keeled over. I would be tender and give her smelling salts and bring her to. Then I would tell her it was all right, that 28 or 30 other people were going along and that it was to be in the world's biggest airplane, with four motors.

"I think," she said, "that is just fine. I have a steak for dinner. Do you want mashed potatoes or fried?"

I did not know what to say. "I guess," I said, "I have not made myself clear. I am going to Europe, which is a continent, like on the maps. I am going to Europe in an airplane. There is a lot of water between the United States and Europe."

She nodded. "Lindbergh and Corrigan and now you. They have been flying the Atlantic since 1919. I hope you remember to be nice and not ask for a second helping."

I am not one to quibble over trifles, but it seems to me that when a man is flying to Europe in the first plane to carry anybody but the crew that a woman ought to realize.

The plane will take off from Manhasset Bay, on the north shore of Long Island, tomorrow and head for Horta, the Azores. Then we will go on Sunday to Lisbon and stop overnight, and land Monday at Marseille, France.

This is the same plane which has flown the route before. It weighs 41½ tons fully loaded and starting June 28 will be used for regular passenger service by Pan American Airways. It carries a crew of 12 and on shorter hops can seat up to 74 people.

There are berths in it, and all that, and it seems to me that a woman ought to realize that this is something which will be recorded in history. Well, current history, anyway.

"I hope you will not be too lonely while I am gone. I don't want you to worry," I said.

She replied, "Oh, I don't want you to worry either. Just don't think about me. I have lots of things to do, just lots of things." Somehow, this trip doesn't seem to be the fun I thought it would be.

Control of the firm last year, ending a Circuit Court receivership, the two firms occupied the same quarters in the Hamilton-Brown factory building at 2031 Olive street. When the petition for reorganization was filed in Federal Court in April, the Collins-Morris firm was moved to 1637 Washington avenue.

$682,225 in Unsecured Claims.

About two-thirds of the liabilities, or $682,225, are unsecured claims, principally by firms which have sold leather and supplies to the shoe firm. Claims of employees for wages prior to the Federal trusteeship and outstanding checks for labor totaled $99,336.

The balance sheet indicated that $185,000 would remain for stockholders if all assets could be converted into cash at stated valuations. The audit, however, listed several contingent liabilities, the principal one of which was the claim for back wages of 103 former workers at the Union (Mo.) plant, who recently won a decision in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals on the firm's appeal from a National Labor Relations Board order. Union officials have estimated this claim at $150,000.

NLRB Asks Court for Rehearing in Union (Mo.) Case.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—In defense of its order to the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. to deal with Local 125 of the United Shoe Workers of America, a CIO affiliate, as the sole bargaining agent at its Union (Mo.) plant, the National Labor Relations Board has petitioned the Circuit Court of Appeals for a rehearing of its decision last month directing the board to hold an election to determine whether this labor unit is Local 176 of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, an A. F. of L. affiliate, should be the bargaining agent.

In effect, the board is contending that the Federal Court was without authority to demand a new election. The case has attracted attention because President William Green of the A. F. of L. recently declared that the court's decision demonstrated that the board had again favored the CIO over the A. F. of L.

In its brief the board argued that the Eighth Circuit Court decision was in conflict with rulings under similar circumstances by the Second, Sixth and Ninth Circuit Courts of Appeals; that the court's opinion "inadvertently" contained inappropriate statements and phrases, such as "arbitrary," and that there was an "important ambiguity" in the court's directions to the board, open to three interpretations.

FIRE ON LAKES SHIP PUT OUT AFTER IT MAKES PORT

Flames Extinguished at Chicago; $100,000 Damage to Cargo, Which Included Matches.

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP).—The freighter Delmaric made port today with most of its crew of 23 fighting a fire in two hatches aft. The vessel, owned by the Canadian Atlantic Transit Co., was commanded by Capt. D. F. Cornett, who telephoned the City Fire Department for aid. The fire boat Fred A. Buss was sent to the dock and the fire was extinguished. Damage to the cargo was estimated at $100,000.

The 3200-ton steamer carried a cargo of paper, matches, rubber and linoleum from Depot Harbor, Georgian Bay, Canada. The fire was discovered about 2 a. m., two hours after the boat cleared from Milwaukee.

Norma Talmadge Leaves Husband. HOLLYWOOD, Cal., June 16 (AP).—Norma Talmadge, movie star of a decade ago, announced through a studio agent last night she had separated from George Jessell, the singer and comedian. The actress did not disclose divorce plans. She came here from New York City a few days ago. Jessell followed her by airplane last night.

FLASHY AUTO TAGS TO PROTECT COUNTY JUDGES AT DUTIES

Presiding Judge Corneli Chased Off One Man's Property, He Explains.

When a Judge making a visit in his official capacity is chased away by an irate property owner because he has no means of identifying himself, something must be done to preserve the dignity of the Court—and Presiding Judge Clifford Corneli of the St. Louis County Court has done it.

Judge Corneli's automobile appeared at the courthouse in Clayton today bearing a shiny new bronze tag, as big as a license plate and an inch thick, embossed with the title: "Presiding Judge of the St. Louis County Court."

The Judge explained to reporters that he demanded this means of identification after an unfortunate experience he underwent when viewing various properties recently in his capacity as a member of the Board of Equalization. Judge Corneli was unable to prove to one suspicious property owner that he was there on business, he said, and "got chased off."

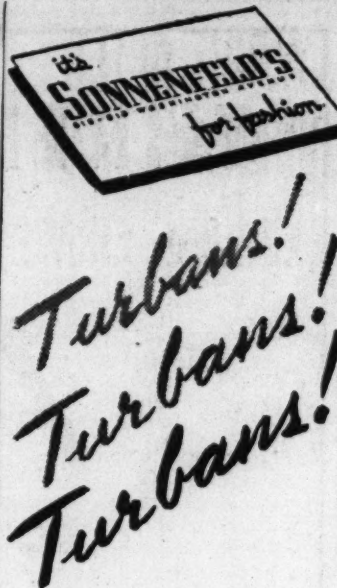

Even the Judges were somewhat surprised, however, Judge Corneli admitted, by the size and beauty of the plates bought for them by the county purchasing agent at their request. "We didn't contemplate anything quite so elaborate," he said.

10,000 Acres Burned Over By Three Blazes—Gale Spreads Flames.

GRANITE, Colo., June 16 (AP).—More than 2500 men fought today against the Rocky Mountain country's worst forest fire in many years. Approximately 15,000 acres of timber land, nearly 25 square miles, have burned in the last three days.

Two New Mexico fires destroyed 700 acres of timber, another in Arizona burned about 500 acres of brush land and two in Wyoming blackened another 250 acres. So far no less of life or serious building destruction has been reported.

A 30-mile-an-hour mountain gale whirled the three major Colorado fires beyond the control of fighting crews of CCC enrollees, WPA workers and volunteers yesterday.

Hundreds of trees were blown down by the wind in the Cochetopa national forest, where the mountain region's biggest fire is centered in Hayden Gulch east of Granite.

FRANCO'S AGENTS 3 CAUGHT AFTER SEIZE CUSTODIAN ABDUCTING MAN, OF TORTURE CELLS ROBBING FIRMS

Edmundo Rodriguez Admits Putting 225 to Death—Accused of Part in Thousands of Killings.

MADRID, June 16 (AP).—Nationalist Secret Service agents yesterday seized Edmundo Rodriguez, 48-year-old constructor of Mosais, and his wife on charges of participating in the killing of thousands of Nationalist sympathizers during the civil war.

Authorities said Rodriguez acknowledged that he was custodian of the notorious torture chambers in San Bernado street and that he personally assassinated 225 persons.

They said his wife, Resurreccion Garcia Ruiz, 47, participated in firing squad executions of "thousands" of sympathizers confined in San Bernado street.

Three Negroes were held on robbery and kidnapping charges today following their capture by detectives after a two-hour crime spree yesterday in which they abducted a downtown produce merchant, took his car and left him bound and gagged in a county ravine and held up four business firms in rapid succession, obtaining a total of $705.

One of the robbers was shot twice and seriously wounded by a detective when he tried to escape.

The wounded robber, who gave his name as Marshall Ward, 22 years old, is at Homer G. Phillips Hospital with wounds in the chest and left side of the back.

The others gave their names as Arthur Walker, 18, and Ward Casey, 28. Walker told police he had taken part in three other robberies in the last three months, in company with one or both of the others, in which $562 in cash and more than $500 in jewelry were taken.

Three Start With Abduction.

Yesterday's series of robberies started at 12:30 p. m., when the Negroes forced their way into the automobile of Edward H. Sellmeyer, head of the H. J. Sellmeyer Produce Co., 825 North Third street, and drove him to a point near United States Highway 66 and Old Halls Ferry road. There they took him to a ravine, bound and gagged him, took his wallet containing $40 and drove away. He freed himself soon and notified police.

Then in rapid succession the robbers held up the Alton Investment Co., 3625 North Grand boulevard, where they got $147; the Schlele-Kleinschmidt Realty Co., across the hall, obtaining nothing; the Standard Motor Finance Co., 3972 Chouteau avenue, $207, and the Official Finance Co., 2117 South Broadway, $311.

Capture of Three by Police.

Detective Sergeant Curtis Brostrom and Detectives Bryan Kilfoy and John Klopmeier, cruising on Chouteau avenue near Jefferson avenue after hearing radio reports of the robberies, spotted the car as it was being parked on Armstrong avenue, half a block south of Chouteau. They pulled in front of the car and gave chase on foot as the robbers fled.

Kilfoy and Klopmeier captured Walker and Casey in an alley, after Klopmeier fired a shot in the air. Ward fled down a nearby gangway and was shot when he failed to heed Brostrom's command to halt. Pockets of the three yielded most of the loot from the holdups. Walker also had a small automatic pistol and Casey two pistols.

15 MONTHS FOR HARBORING MEMBERS OF KARPIS GANG

Sam Coker Pleads Guilty at Toledo, O., to Sheltering Robbers and Kidnapers.

TOLEDO, O., June 16 (AP).—Sam Coker, 43 years old, a Cherokee Indian, today was sentenced to serve 15 months by U. S. District Judge Frank L. Klob, for harboring members of the Karpis-Campbell gang of kidnapers and mail robbers. Coker pleaded guilty.

Coker admitted harboring the gang in connection with the $43,000 Garrettsville (O.) mail robbery and of being an accessory after the fact in connection with the kidnapping for $200,000 ransom of Edward Bremer of St. Paul. Both crimes were committed by the Karpis gang.

"This cleans up the worst gang of criminals ever to prey upon this nation," Emerich Freed, U. S. District Attorney, said. "Alvin Karpis, Harry Campbell and Fred Hunter are in Alcatraz. The two Barkers (Fred and Arthur) and 'Ma' Barker are dead. John Brock either fell or leaped from a four-story building in Oklahoma and died of his injuries. Altogether 20 persons have been convicted in this case."

HOPKINS NOW 'IOWA FARMER,' FOR ROOSEVELT THIRD TERM

"I Believe a Great Mass of People Agree With Me," Says Commerce Secretary.

GRINNELL, Ia., June 16 (AP).—Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins, an "Iowa farmer" by virtue of leasing a 338-acre stock farm here, left for Washington last night after endorsing President Roosevelt for a third term.

"First, last and all the time," Hopkins said, "my choice for President in 1940 is Franklin D. Roosevelt, and I believe that a great mass of the people agree with me."

"The New Deal is going right ahead and one of the first things to do is to control the next Democratic convention; I am confident that the President and other liberals will be in the majority."

Miss Cochran Again Gets Trophy.

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP).—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt presented the Harmon aviatrix trophy to Jacqueline Cochran yesterday for the second year in succession, as "the world's outstanding woman flyer."

In addition, Miss Cochran, who in private life is Mrs. Floyd Odlum, received a medal stamped in memory of the late King Albert of Belgium—the first American to receive it.

TEACHER IDENTIFIES BOY'S BAD SPELLING IN EXTORTION NOTE

'Sensible,' 'Business,' 'Gaud' Betray 15-Year-Old's Venture in Crime.

STOCKTON, Cal., June 16 (AP).—Two 15-year-old boys abandoned plans for an expensive vacation in Canada today because one of them never could spell "sensible," "business" and "gaud"—"sensible," "business" and "gaud."

Katherine Goeghan, seventh grade teacher, received a note commanding her to place $500 and a gun at a certain spot. She called police, who could find no one at the appointed spot. So Miss Goeghan read the note. She was to be "sensible" about the "business" because the extortionists would be on "gaud."

Then she remembered. Those were the very words she had struggled in vain to get Ken Thompson to spell correctly.

District Attorney F. C. Cloudsley said the boy confessed he wrote the note, dictated by Raymond Hattler. Cloudsley hasn't decided what to do with the boys.

Agents Under Hoover Will Protect Armament Program From Foreign Espionage.

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—Federal agents under the direction of J. Edgar Hoover took over today the problem of protecting the nation's new armament construction program from foreign spies.

Intelligence officers of the war and navy departments will turn over to the Justice Department certain phases of their espionage investigations.

Attorney-General Murphy, in making the announcement late yesterday, said he had evidence of sabotage as well as espionage and that the number of cases of the latter this year probably would reach 1000. Hoover, Murphy said, will work closely with other Federal departments.

Meanwhile, the Senate Naval Committee recommended increased penalties for such crimes. The report said there was "widespread

EX-WIFE TESTIFIES AT RUTH ETING TRIAL

Alienation Suit Plaintiff Tells of Seeing Singer Visit Husband.

LOS ANGELES, June 16 (AP).—Trial of an alienation suit against Ruth Etting, former radio and movie singer, brought out testimony yesterday of an all-night stay in a Hollywood house.

Mrs. Alma Alderman, suing for $150,000, charges Miss Etting stole the love of Myrl Alderman soon after the Alderman baby was born. Alderman, Miss Etting's former pianist, flew with the singer to Las Vegas, Nev., last Dec. 14, and married her while her former husband Martin (the Gimp) Snyder, was being tried in Los Angeles for shooting Alderman. That was shortly after the Alderman divorce decree became final.

Mrs. Alderman said she saw Alderman and Miss Etting enter a Hollywood house one night three months before their marriage "and lights went out." She told of maintaining an all-night watch outside the house with her aunt and a private detective and of seeing Miss Etting appear at the back door the next morning.

Telephoned Miss Etting. Prior to the marriage, Mrs. Alderman testified she sought vainly in telephone conversations with Miss Etting to induce her to leave Alderman's apartment.

"I called Mr. Alderman and asked him if Ruth was there," she said. "He put her on the phone. I asked her what she was doing in that apartment—that she had no business to be there. She was laughing and giggling."

"I said for her to get out of there, that she had no right to be there, and told her, 'I'm coming right over there if you don't get out.' That was about 1:30 a. m. She just laughed at me, and I told her I was going to bring a policeman over there and throw her out, but she just continued laughing and hung up the phone."

Telegram Introduced. Introduced in evidence was a telegram, signed "Nutsy" and addressed to Alderman in Beverly Hills, which figured in Snyder's trial. Filed in Chicago Nov. 30, 1937, it read:

"Everything went fine. Leaving tonight Santa Fe. Meet me Pasadena 7:25 Friday morning. Nutsy."

Attorney S. S. Hahn, representing Mrs. Alderman, said he had the original telegram and that he would submit testimony it was in Miss Etting's handwriting. Hahn said he also would try to show it was sent the same day the singer got her divorce from Snyder in Chicago. Alderman obtained his divorce two days later.

Snyder is in the county jail pending his appeal from a 20-year prison sentence for shooting Alderman.

Bernard Cohen, Miss Etting's lawyer, asked Mrs. Alderman: "Isn't it true that you were so jealous of Mr. Alderman that you accused him of being familiar with Dorothy Lamour?" "I should say not," was the reply.

"Didn't you spend four or five days a week drinking in a bar and didn't you and Mr. Alderman quarrel because of your heavy drinking?" Cohen asked. "No," she answered. "He was the heavy drinker."

"You didn't stagger into the lobby of the Columbia Broadcasting Studios, very drunk?" "I certainly did not," she said.

Roosevelt Seeks Fund To Buy War Materials. Decides $25,000,000 Should Be Spent in Next 12 Months on Products From Abroad.

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—The administration decided today to ask Congress for $25,000,000 to spend during the 12 months beginning July 1 on strategic war materials not produced in this country.

The figure was agreed upon at a conference between President Roosevelt and seven defense and fiscal advisers.

Congress recently authorized expenditure of $100,000,000 on needed strategic materials in the next few years, but made no appropriation.

The type of materials to be given priority will be kept secret. Louis Johnson, Assistant Secretary of War, and Charles Edison, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, will decide soon the amounts to be spent for each class of products, it was said.

At today's meeting were Johnson, Secretary of State Hull, Secretary of War Woodring, Secretary of the Interior Ickes, Admiral William D. Leahy, Edward J. Noble, acting Secretary of Commerce, and Harold D. Smith, Budget Director.

movement. Probably the reason is a mixture of both."

900,000 on Federal Rolls. Murphy said the national Government employed 900,000 persons receiving one and one-half billion dollars in annual salaries. State and local rolls total 3,000,000, he added, with annual payrolls of four billion dollars.

Approximating the average annual family income at $1500, Murphy said that on that basis the average family's share of the expense of the public payroll was $200 a year.

Then, commenting that the cost of Government was "not our only concern," Murphy asserted that laws produced by a Democratic process must be administered with a maximum of efficiency and a maximum of integrity.

"Other factors being normal, the key to economical and successful Government is the employment and retention in the public service of an administrative personnel of the highest professional qualifications, efficiency and morale," he said.

Murphy called for a "real awakening of our citizens—the people who pay the bills—to the influences that are standing in the way of reform and to the conditions that have grown up under their protection. The task of bringing that awakening about is a problem and a challenge for real American statesmanship."

BUCKNER WROTE M'NUTT AIDED HIM IN PHILIPPINES

Buenavista is one of Buckner's four co-defendants.

Walden said he had a conversation with William J. Gillespie, a broker and defendant, while Buckner was in the Philippines.

Gillespie, Walden said, told him that Buckner had communicated with him and told him that Buenavista would help them get favorable legislation but that "he will have to be carried to the extent of 200 bonds."

"What would be the value of those bonds?" asked William Power Maloney, Assistant United States Attorney.

"Two hundred thousand dollars at par value," Walden replied.

Walden said Gillespie also told him Buckner had said the "bonds could be unloaded at 65," and added Gillespie said such a price depended on legislation passed by the Philippine Assembly with Buenavista's aid.

Letters Introduced. Maloney read several letters and cablegrams, which he said had been exchanged between Buckner and Gillespie.

"I am having plenty of headaches," one letter from Buckner in Manila said, "due to my illness and Quezon's I can't move."

The letter referred to the President of the Philippines, who may testify.

Testifying concerning accounts submitted to the Bondholders' Committee by Buckner, Walden said one such account in October of 1937 contained a blanket charge of $5000 for hotels. Among other items listed was one of $2500 for entertainment.

Under cross-examination, Walden acknowledged that the committee had voted unanimously to give Buckner funds and authority to push legislation here and in the Philippines for the redemption of the bonds.

"Did Buckner ever discuss with you the Philippine situation?" defense counsel asked.

"Yes," said Walden. "He said they were hard fellow to deal with."

The other defendants are C. Wesley Turner, like Buckner a broker, and Capt. John Stuart Hyde, former British army officer and now a Hollywood motion picture producer.

Testimony yesterday was almost entirely about gay parties here and in Washington, through which the Government sought to prove that Buckner's "beauty lobby" was a move to influence legislation to favor his plans.

SECOND PRISON GUARD FOUND GUILTY IN HOT-CELL DEATHS. Convicted of Involuntary Manslaughter in Killing of Four Convicts in Punishment Block.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16 (AP).—Francis J. Smith, a former Holmesburg Prison guard, was convicted of involuntary manslaughter today in the death of one of the four convicts who perished last summer in superheated punishment cells. The jury deliberated four hours.

The conviction was the second in four trials. Frank Craven, former Deputy Warden, also was convicted of involuntary manslaughter. He has asked for a new trial. Former Superintendent William B. Mills and James Maguire, former guard captain, were acquitted.

WISCONSIN U. PAIR CLING ALL NIGHT TO UPSET CANOE

At Dawn They Start to Swim to Shore; Found Unconscious on Beach.

MADISON, Wis., June 16 (AP).—Two University of Wisconsin students, one a woman, were found unconscious on the shore of Middleton Beach early today after an all night fight against death in the choppy waters of Lake Mendota.

The students, Miss Jeanne M. Vaughan, 22, of Madison, and Albert W. Axley, 22, of Washburn, Wis., were dumped into the water when their rented canoe capsized in the middle of the lake last night.

They clung to the overturned canoe until dawn and then started swimming for shore. Both said were so exhausted they did not after entering a hospital that they call reaching shore.

HITLER TAKES OVER REICHSBANK CONTROL

Foreigners Will Be Eliminated as Shareholders, Being Re-compensated 100 Per Cent.

BERLIN, June 15 (AP).—Reichsbank President Walther Funk announced last night that a new law reorganizing the bank, placing it directly under the orders of Chancellor Hitler and eliminating foreigners from holding shares, would be published in the official gazette today.

Funk said that foreigners who hold Reichsbank shares would be recompensed 100 per cent for the surrender of them. It was estimated that foreigners hold 35,000,000 to 40,000,000 Reichsmarks ($14,000,000 to $16,000,000) of the total of 160,000,000 Reichsmarks ($60,000,000) of Reichsbank shares.

Funk disclosed that Hitler himself had drawn up proposals for reorganizing the bank which are to be passed on by a general assembly meeting of the bank called for June 30.

These proposals offer foreigners two shares of the gold discount bank bearing 4 per cent interest for each Reichsbank share they hold.

Income from the new shares is to be guaranteed by the German Government. It will be transferable to foreign currencies so that foreigners may get their money abroad.

If Hitler's proposals are accepted by the stockholders—and Funk said there was little doubt they would be—the gold discount bank shares will begin bearing interest this year.

German holders of Reichsbank stock will receive new shares in place of those now held.

These measures mark carrying through of the task Hitler assigned to Funk when he named him to succeed Dr. Hjalmar Schacht last January.

Hitler now takes direct command of the Reichsbank. The board of directors no longer can override a decision taken by the Reichsbank president, who is classified as Hitler's personal representative in the bank.

Funk said the gold discount bank was chosen in the plan for reorganizing foreigners "because that bank is a sister institution of the Reichsbank and has the widest connections abroad." A large amount of foreign capital came into the bank in 1924 when it was floated through the Dawes plan.

Wife Sues Actor Ken Maynard. LOS ANGELES, June 16 (AP).—Mary Leeper Maynard sued Ken Maynard, cowboy movie actor, for divorce yesterday, charging that he "squandered" money on another woman while she was forced to live on the bounty of friends. She asked for $500 monthly alimony.

PITTMAN WANTS RAW MATERIALS ARMS EMB

Chairman of Foreign Relations Committee challenges 21 Senators include Steel, Cotton

BARKLEY SEEKS AT THIS SE

Compromise Legislation Limiting Shipments Munitions, Souvenirs Senator Schwollen

WASHINGTON, June 15 (AP).—Chairman Pittman (Dem.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee challenged today signers of a statement opposing the arms embargo on oil, steel, copper, cotton and other products on the war trade list.

The embargo forbids the sale of arms to belligerents, but the Neutrality Act is interpreted to place no restrictions on the other materials.

The round-robin circulated the "mandatory neutrality" statement that the United States not afford to persist "in a policy of deterring war while at the same time scheming to gain from the wars of other nations." That statement has an appearance of sincerity and moral resolve, Pittman said.

Points to Japan's Navy "Of course," he added, "the sponsors of this definition of morality, knowing present definition of arms, and implements of war, are absolutely essential induct of war, will introduce amendments including such materials as the definition of arms." "And, of course, they intend to support amendments including all materials out of which armaments and implements of war are made, because Japan, stance, only seeks to obtain materials."

"These materials include copper, lead, zinc, iron, steel and the like."

"It is unfortunate that the declaration of war includes such promises in statement so that they are unjustly suspected of in advance. They can be overruled by a public statement."

"If they hesitate to do so, they will have the opportunity on the floor of the Senate to ing such materials to the list."

Pittman said he had formed that such a proposition be submitted to the Senate.

Barkley Wants Senate to Manville, Democratic

Barkley said he intended a Senate vote on the neutrality session, but he did not expect a filibuster against legislation.

Senator Schwollenbach, Washington, said he thought sponsors of the round-robin laying themselves open to for not seeking to replace pired sections of the law which belligerents had to for goods bought in this and to transport them in ships.

"If they filibuster and any legislation," Schwollenbach declared, "they will leave one of the doors to war of their insistence that the door be closed tight."

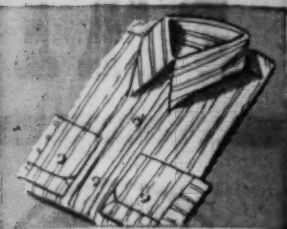

Schwollenbach said he planned to introduce a compromise under which sales of munitions would be to the normal amount purchased in this country for five years.

New Referendum Report. A Judiciary Subcommittee led by Senator Hatch (Utah), reported to the Senate without recommending a resolution which would be a popular referendum before could be declared, except in a threatened attack on the States, its possessions or of the Western Hemisphere. Hatch, an opponent of the measure, said that he preferred it out without recommendation rather than have endorsement in the subcommittee. The measure is similar to one which was pigeonholed in the House last year after Roosevelt and Secretary Hull had expressed opposition.

PITTMAN WANTS RAW MATERIALS IN ARMS EMBARGO

Chairman of Foreign Relations Committee Challenges 21 Senators to Include Steel, Cotton, Etc.

BARKLEY SEEKS VOTE AT THIS SESSION

Compromise Legislation, Limiting Shipments of Munitions, Sought by Senator Schwollenbach.

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—Chairman Pittman (Dem.), Nevada, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee challenged today the 21 signers of a statement opposing repeal of the arms embargo to include oil, steel, copper, cotton and other products on the war time contraband list.

The embargo forbids the sale of arms to belligerents whenever the Neutrality Act is invoked, but puts no restrictions on the sale of other materials.

The round-robin circulated by the "mandatory neutrality" bloc asserted that the United States could not afford to persist "in its talk about detesting war while at the same time scheming to get profit from the wars of other nations."

"That statement has an outward appearance of sincerity and high moral resolve," Pittman said. Points to Japan's Needs. "Of course," he added sarcastically, "the sponsors of this declaration of morality, knowing that the present definition of arms, ammunition and implements of war includes only manufactured articles and knowing that oil and gasoline are absolutely essential in the conduct of war, will introduce amendments including such materials in the definition of arms."

"And, of course, they undoubtedly intend to support bills and amendments including all of the materials out of which arms, ammunition and implements of war are made, because Japan, for instance, only seeks to obtain such materials."

"These materials include cotton, copper, lead, zinc, iron, scrap iron, steel and the like."

"It is unfortunate that the proponents of the declaration did not include such promises in their statement so that they might not be unjustly suspected of insincerity in advance. They can cure this oversight by a public statement."

"If they hesitate to do so, they can be content knowing that they will have the opportunity to vote on the floor of the Senate on adding such materials to the embargo list."

Pittman said he had been informed that such a proposal would be submitted to the Senate.

Barkley Wants Senate to Vote. Meanwhile, Democratic Leader Barkley said he intended to seek a Senate vote on the neutrality issue this session, but he discounted reports of a filibuster against the legislation.

Schollenbach (Dem.), Washington, said he thought the sponsors of the round-robin were laying themselves open to criticism for not seeking to replace the expired sections of the law under which belligerents had to pay cash for goods bought in this country and to transport them in foreign ships.

"If they filibuster and prevent any legislation," Schollenbach declared, "they will leave wide open one of the doors to war because of their insistence that the other door be closed tight."

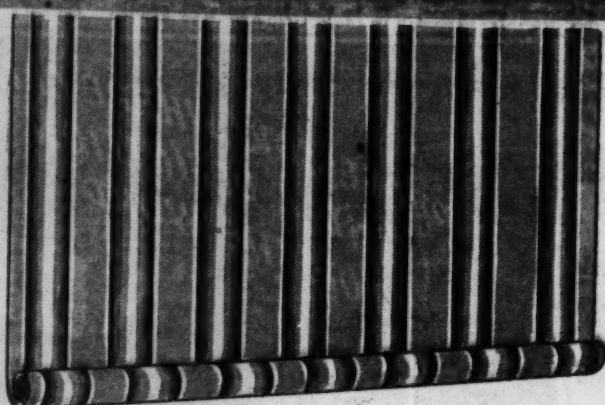

Schollenbach said he planned to introduce a compromise measure under which sales of munitions to warring nations would be limited to the normal amount purchased by them in this country for the preceding five years.

U. S. TAKES 5 MORE RIVERFRONT BLOCKS

It Has Deposited $1,127,062 for 8 of 40 It Has So Far Got Judgment On.

The Government took title to five more blocks in the riverfront memorial site yesterday, with payments into United States District Court making a total of $1,127,062 deposited for eight blocks on which it may take physical possession in 60 days.

Title to the first three blocks was taken Wednesday on judgment by District Judge George H. Moore, with payment into court of $364,688. District Attorney Harry C. Blanton announced that he would tender payment to court for the entire 40-block site by June 30, when the $6,750,000 Federal allotment to the $9,000,000 memorial fund will expire.

This procedure enables the Government to make payment and take possession, where advisable, without delay for final settlement with contesting property owners. District Attorney Blanton explained that the Government would wait on the reasonable convenience of occupants in taking actual possession.

Property owners can collect the cash in court on determination of their respective interests. Where agreements have been made—now covering more than half the owners, with slightly less than half the dollar value of damage awards—the payment is final. Owners who do not agree retain the right to contest.

Yesterday's payments continued materially below the commissioners' awards, which totaled $6,501,071 for the 40 blocks, or within $250,000 of the Federal allotment to the fund. They ran well above the assessed valuation, even as it stood before the 25 per cent reduction on the riverfront property last year.

The five blocks included a three-block strip between Second and Third streets—No. 59, between Market and Walnut streets, No. 60, between Market and Chestnut street, and No. 61, between Chestnut and Pine street; and two blocks between First and Wharf streets—No. 3, between Spruce and Valentine streets, and No. 5, between Elm and Clark streets.

Payment into court totaled $762,374, in comparison with commissioners' award of $847,042, and 1938 reduced tax valuation of $555,890. Severally these were: No. 59, $174,701, with award $221,229 and tax value $134,830; No. 61, $200,634, award $219,328 and tax value $148,590; No. 60, $155,667, award $156,294 and tax value $125,900; No. 3, $110,459, award $116,649 and tax value $61,400; No. 5, $120,913, award $133,542 and tax value $85,170.

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—The site of old Federal Hall in New York City, where George Washington took the oath as first President, became an officially designated historical site today.

EWALD H. TOEDEBUSCH NOT IN TRUCKERS' FINANCE GROUP

Never Member of Committee That Raised $15,000 Fund as Erroneously Reported.

Ewald H. Toedebusch, president of Toedebusch Transfer, Inc., 1450 North Tenth street, was erroneously identified in the Post-Dispatch May 17 as a member of the Finance Committee of the Missouri Truckers' Association which raised a $15,000 fund to obtain favorable legislation in the Missouri Legislature.

His name appeared in a list of members of the committee obtained from another member. Toedebusch said he had never been a member of the committee, had not paid dues for several months and assumed he had been dropped from membership in the Missouri Truckers' Association.

CANADIANS TRYING TO DRESS LIKE THE KING, TAILORS SAY

Trend Toward Conservative Styles, Chalk-Stripes and Checked Tweeds Noticed.

TORONTO, June 16 (Canadian Press).—Canadian tailors today attributed to King George a fashion trend toward conservative styles, chalk-stripes and checked tweeds. Clothiers said the royal visit had made Canadian men more clothes-conscious than at any time since the Duke of Windsor, then Prince of Wales, last visited Canada in 1927.

A trend to double-breasted suits was brought on by the King's frequent choice of such models for daytime wear on his tour. Vancouver tailors reported a change from raglans to double-breasted topcoats as a result of His Majesty's appearance there.

In addition, tailors said men were more conscious of correct morning attire as the result of seeing it at four ceremonies.

Toronto clothes-makers said their customers were demanding more careful fittings, like the King's.

ROOSEVELT HASN'T ANY NEW LABOR PEACE PLAN

Hopes CIO and A. F. of L.
Will Settle Their Dispute,
He Tells Press.

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—Although he said he was planning no new step to bring the rival CIO and A. F. of L. labor groups together, President Roosevelt expressed today the hope that they would settle their jurisdictional differences in the long run.

He told reporters he knew nothing about recent developments that indicated little hope for labor peace except what he had read in the newspapers. He added, however, there were a lot of disagreements in all walks of life and that in the long run they were usually worked out.

John L. Lewis, CIO president, announced Wednesday his organization's leaders meeting here were agreed to "go forward with renewed vigor." William Green, president of the A. F. of L., asserted Lewis "has again blocked labor peace."

This disclosure of belligerent attitudes signalled the end, at least for the time being, of peace negotiations undertaken several months ago at the suggestion of the administration.

Woll Calls Lewis' Words Discouraging to President.

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP).—John L. Lewis' declaration yesterday that CIO-A. F. of L. peace was now "impossible" was characterized last night by Matthew Woll, an A. F. of L. vice-president, as a discourtesy to President Roosevelt and a second deliberate scuttling of peace efforts.

The CIO chairman's statement, said Woll, secretary of the A. F. of L. Peace Negotiations Committee, "was discourteous to the President in that the Chief Executive had requested both the A. F. of L. and CIO under no circumstances to terminate negotiations without first consulting him."

Woll declared negotiations had not collapsed, but were suspended during conferences on a soft coal labor contract to accommodate Lewis, and, Woll continued, "we had every reason to believe the negotiations would be resumed."

"This is the second time he (Lewis) has deliberately wrecked efforts to restore peace in the family of labor. The first occasion was in December, 1937, when committees representing the A. F. of L. and CIO had reached a unanimous agreement, which was vetoed at the last moment by Mr. Lewis."

The CIO leader's statement reveals, Woll added, that issues on which the CIO stood during the discussions "were wholly fictitious."

"Mr. Lewis now says that peace is 'secondary' to him, that the primary purpose of the CIO is the organization of the organized and the building of what he terms a progressive labor movement," Woll said, but, he continued, "peace and unity in the labor movement remains the issue."

Woll then predicted that CIO workers, unable to obtain a truce through the CIO, would return to the A. F. of L.

Text of British Foreign Office Statement on Tientsin Issues

LONDON, June 16 (AP).—Following is the text of a communique issued today by the British Foreign Office concerning the issue between Japan and Britain at Tientsin, China. The issues arising from the Japanese blockade of Tientsin seem still to be insufficiently appreciated and it may be well therefore to set out the position once more as it appears to British Government circles.

In the first place, the present situation at Tientsin has come about owing to the Japanese demand for surrender of four Chinese alleged by the Japanese authorities to be implicated in the murder of another Chinese in the British concession on April 9. The standpoint of the British authorities has been that hitherto sufficient evidence has not been forthcoming to establish a prima facie case which would justify the handing over of these four men at present in detention by the municipal police to the local District Court and it should be noted that the Japanese authorities have consistently refused to furnish evidence.

As has already been made clear, however, the British authorities agreed to submit this aspect of the question to the judgment of an independent advisory committee of three reputable persons under a neutral chairman. The Japanese would have been represented on this court and the American Government had agreed to nominate a member. The purpose of this proposed committee was to advise whether in their opinion the evidence available against the four accused was in fact adequate to justify their being handed over for trial. The British Government were prepared beforehand to accept whatever conclusion this body might reach.

Far Graver Issues. This proposal did not find favor in the eyes of the Japanese authorities in Tientsin, who decided to proceed with their plans for imposing a blockade on the British and French concessions. The British offer to submit evidence against the accused to this advisory committee has, however, not been withdrawn.

Meanwhile, far graver issues have been raised by statements emanating from local Japanese authorities in China. Recently, it may be recalled, the British, French and United States governments had found it necessary to make representations to the Department of Foreign Affairs in Tokyo regarding statements by a spokesman of the Japanese Ministry for Foreign Affairs made on May 24 which seriously threatened treaty rights of foreign Powers in China. Such statements have recently been sharpened in a threatening manner by Japanese spokesmen in Tientsin.

It is clear from these statements that the surrender of the four accused men is no longer regarded as the reason for the imposition of measures against the British concession. What is demanded is that "the British authorities co-operate with the Japanese in construction of a 'new order' in the East by abandoning their 'pro-Chiang Kai-shek' policies, including protection of anti-Japanese and Communist elements, support of Chinese dollars at the sacrifice of Federal Reserve Bank notes, cornering of commodities, connivance at the use of wireless by lawless elements and permission to use anti-Japanese school books."

Under Threat of Force. While, therefore, the position as regards the four arrested Chinese remains as described above, British circles can not but take a most serious view of the further demands which have been made and which raise the widest issues affecting the rights of all those Powers which have treaty rights in China. They would mean the abandonment under threats of force of the policy which His Majesty's Government have followed in the past, which is the same as that of other great Powers with interests in the Far East. It is still hoped that the Japanese authorities may not maintain their refusal to give further consideration to the proposals which have been made in order to localize the incident.

But if, unhappily, the new de-

SILVER BLOC WEIGHS INFLATION SCHEME

Thomas Urges $2,000,000,000 Issue Using Part of Stabilization Fund.

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—Members of the Senate silver bloc considered today a proposal by Senator Thomas (Dem.), Oklahoma, to issue two billion dollars of new currency, to be backed by that amount of gold.

Thomas had proposed that $1,500,000,000 of gold be taken from the two billion dollar stabilization fund and that $500,000,000 of "free gold" in the Treasury be used to back the currency.

Thomas told the meeting his proposal, offered as an amendment to pending legislation extending the President's monetary powers, would "give a major measure of relief."

"It will do this," Thomas said, "by cheapening the dollar, raising the price level, raising the national income. I admit it will hurt the bondholder, hurt the big banks and hurt the members of Congress, who receive a fixed salary."

Present at today's meeting besides Thomas were Senators Frazier (Rep.), North Dakota; McCarran (Dem.), Nevada; Pittman (Dem.), Nevada; Adams (Dem.), Colorado; Wheeler (Dem.), Montana; Hatch (Dem.), New Mexico; Chavez (Dem.), New Mexico; Thomas (Dem.), Utah; and Johnson (Dem.), Colorado.

Facts, Mystery, Romance Of Pacific to Be Explored

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, June 16.—When and how was the Pacific Ocean born? What is the architecture of the continents that rim it—their foundation, their floor plans, their structure? What happens when earthquakes shake up and volcanic outpourings crumple the ocean floor?

These and many other questions are to be investigated, it was announced today, by a 12-month expedition which will explore a Pacific area larger than the United States and visit islands whose romance has attracted writers from the days of Melville and Stevenson to those of Nordoff and Hall.

The expedition, to be sent out by the National Geographic Society and the University of Virginia, with the co-operation of the United States Coast Guard, will make depth soundings, bring up samples of sea bottom deposits, carefully map magnetic conditions and slight differences in the pull of gravity, and make maps and photographs from the air.

Co-ordinated Studies.
The expedition will be the first to make co-ordinated studies of this sort over so large an area and is expected to result in safer navigation for the increasing aircraft and steamship traffic in this region. This important aspect of the expedition's work is responsible for the close co-operation of the Coast Guard and for the interest of President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Hull and Under-Secretary Welles, Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and Rear Admiral Russell B. Waesche, commandant of the Coast Guard, which made the scientific cruise possible.

Along with the scientific work, the Coast Guard will make a survey of the present and future needs for navigational aids and radio facilities to contribute to the safety of marine and air commerce.

The region to be surveyed covers approximately 4,500,000 square miles, once and a half the size of the United States. It extends from Kingman Reef on the north to the Tonga and Cook Islands on the south, and from Ducie Island on the east to Nauru Island and the Gilbert groups on the west. In general it covers an irregular area with a maximum distance of 5000 miles east and west and 2000 miles north and south, situated south of the Hawaiian Islands and northeast of Australia and New Zealand.

All of the islands within the region are owned by or are under mandate to the United States, Great Britain, France or New Zealand. Among the better-known islands are Canton, recently dedicated to joint use as an American and British air base; Pitcairn, home of descendants of the mutineers of the Bounty; Tahiti, and the Samoan group. The expedition plans to establish major bases on 20 or more islands, from each of which 10 to 50 islands will be examined.

With Geographic's Aid.
Leader of the expedition will be Wilbur A. Nelson, Corcoran professor of geology at the University of Virginia. The National Geographic Society will provide four geophysicists, a geographer and cartographer and a photographer. Other members of the party will be experts on the magnetism of the earth from the department of terrestrial magnetism of the Carnegie Institution, experts on gravity and geodesy from the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, a naturalist from the Smithsonian Institution specializing in marine biology and related subjects, and a specialist who will obtain cores of mud from the ocean floor. The National Broadcasting Co. will send radio engineers with the expedition to investigate radio phenomena, and will arrange a number of broadcasts by members of the scientific party from remote islands.

The expedition's ship will be one of the latest vessels of the Coast Guard, equipped with a seaplane and apparatus for taking sonic depth soundings. The date of departure will be about Sept. 15.

Geological Structure.
One of the important objectives of the expedition will be to gather data relating to the theory of isostasy, which concerns the structure of the continents and ocean basins. According to this theory, the continents are composed of comparatively light-weight masses of rock while denser rock forms the crust under ocean areas. Measurements of the gravity variations made by the expedition will test the isostatic condition of the great Pacific region. On islands of volcanic origin gravity should be greater than where the island is capped by great beds of light coral rocks. Some of the islands are formed from coral which has accumulated on submerged extinct volcanoes. The coral and volcanic islands are known as the "Pacific type," while some other islands containing granite are thought to have been originally associated with continents.

Measurements of variations in the pull of gravity on different islands will help determine the type of geological structure that lies beneath the surface.

Magnetism and Navigation.
The expedition's measurements of the earth's magnetism at various points will have an important practical application to safety of navigation by sea and by air. The earth's magnetism at any given point is slowly but constantly changing its direction, which causes the compass needle to point in a gradually varying direction. Unless a ship captain or airplane pilot is familiar with the compass variations from true north in any given region he may easily get off his course.

Mud and rock from the ocean's floor will be obtained by a method developed in the Geophysical Laboratory of the Carnegie Institution of Washington. Since the expedition will necessarily explore many out-of-the-way islands and seldom-visited waters, it is expected to make valuable contributions to geography by checking old maps, charts and surveys, redetermining locations of islands, and gathering additional facts on soundings, channels, tides and currents.

"Deepes" and Ridges.
Ocean "deepes" and high ridges among the islands will be explored by the expedition in an effort to determine whether they have a connection with earthquakes which have centered in the region in the past. Regions of earthquake activity often are near great sea depths.

Important island groups in the region to be explored, in addition to those already mentioned, include the Phoenix Islands, Line Islands, Ellice Islands, Tokelau or Union Group, Fiji Islands, Gilbert Islands, Marquesas Islands, Society Islands, Gambier Islands, Tuamotu Islands and Bellinghausen Islands.

PROPOSED GAS SERVICE CHARGE UNDER STUDY

City Considers It in Relation to New Rates and Whether to Oppose It.

The effect of the proposed 75-cent minimum charge for service calls proposed in the new rate schedule filed with the State Public Service Commission by the Laclede Gas Light Co. is being studied by the City Counselor's office to determine to what extent it would offset the proposed reductions. City Counselor Edgar H. Wayman is considering whether to ask the commission to reject the charge. Under the new schedule there is virtually no reduction for a consumer using 2000 cubic feet or less of gas a month, and such consumers would be increased by the charge for service calls, if any. Under the present schedule, the company makes service calls for adjustment and inspection of appliances without charge.

City Counselor Wayman said today the city heretofore has consistently opposed the imposition of a charge for such service calls. In 1935 the company proposed such a charge in a revised schedule, but the city vigorously fought it and it was not allowed by the Public Service Commission.

One ground for the city's opposition in the past has been the possible effect on safety in homes. It was argued in the 1935 case that the charge would discourage service calls and might result in small gas leaks being neglected until they reached dangerous proportions. Many service calls are for adjustment of burners when families move into new quarters where there is a change of gas pressure. Cost of service calls to the company is estimated at about $100,000 a year. Before the change was made the normal cost was only about $30,000 a year.

The following table shows the comparative cost of gas under the present and proposed schedules and the reduction without taking into account service calls:

Monthly Use	Present Rate	Proposed Rate	Per Cent Reduction
1,000	$1.65	$1.64	0.6
2,000	2.77	2.76	0.4
3,000	3.34	3.17	5.0
4,000	3.90	3.60	7.7
5,000	5.01	4.44	11.6
6,000	6.03	5.28	12.4
7,000	6.08	6.96	13.8
10,000	11.15	9.45	15.0

The company has described the reductions in the new schedule as "promotional," that is, designed to encourage a greater use of gas, and the company holds out the prospect that substantially greater volume of consumption might make possible further rate reductions. A date for a hearing on the new schedule has not been set by the Public Service Commission. The company has asked to have the hearing expedited.

Although the proposed schedule is on the therm basis as is the present one, it may easily be stated on the basis of cubic feet since the mixed gas served by Laclede contains 800 British thermal units to the cubic foot.

The proposed schedule for general service in terms of cubic feet for the first 250 cubic feet, 80 cents; for the next 1750 cubic feet used in a month, $1.12 a thousand cubic feet; for the next 48,000 cubic feet, 84 cents a thousand; for the next 100,000 cubic feet, 72 cents a thousand; for the next 150,000 cubic feet, 60 cents a thousand; for the next 300,000 cubic feet, 52 cents a thousand; for all over 600,000 cubic feet, 42 cents a thousand.

CONGRESSMAN PATMAN HERE. OPTIMISTIC ABOUT BUSINESS

Outlook Bright, He Thinks; Points Out Administration's Power Over Purchasing.

The outlook for business in the next 18 months is good, Representative Wright Patman of Texas, author of the Robinson-Patman discount-limitation law and the Patman chain store tax bill, said today on his arrival to address the Missouri Automobile Dealers' Association at the Hotel Chase.

Business will be good, he said, for the simple reason that next year is election year. Bank reserves are high, deposits are enormous, the Government has $16,000,000,000 in gold, and the administration has the power to place in circulation whenever it sees fit billions of dollars of additional purchasing power, he added.

"Frankly and candidly," he said, "I do not believe that any administration possessing so much power, whether Democratic or Republican, should be expected to sit idly by, be brought into disrepute with the people and lose the election, if it is within its power to prevent it."

LIE DETECTOR USED IN KIDNAPING KILLING

Ohio Child's Family to Receive Tests — No Fingerprints Found on Door Knob.

CLYDE, O., June 16 (AP).—Authorities turned to lie detector tests today in their hunt for clues leading to the killer of 10-week-old Haldon Fink, found in a nearby creek 12 hours after being snatched from his crib.

Earlier hopes that fingerprints might help in solving the case were virtually wiped out as experts reported no prints were found on the knob of the front door of the home where the child was stolen. Members of the family had been fingerprinted voluntarily.

Sheriff H. L. Myers said at least 10 persons would be given the tests, including the baby's divorced mother, Mrs. Velma Baker Fink, 22; the father, Irvin, 23, the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oran Baker, and other relatives and persons already questioned.

As Sheriff Myers emerged from a conference with Prosecutor A. L. Hyzer last night, he said: "There might be an arrest by tomorrow night." Questioned about developments in the case, he added: "The outlook seems bright."

"There are a lot of loose ends to check yet," Hyzer commented, adding that he hoped "to get some sort of a lead" from the lie tests. The Prosecutor said he was investigating a story that the baby might have been mistaken for another child by the abductor. He said Dr. E. A. Baker, a well-to-do Clyde physician, has a three-month-old child.

The Fink child was stolen from the Oran Baker home Tuesday night when the mother and grandmother were away. The grandfather was at home, but said he did not hear anyone enter the house. Sheriff Myers and Coroner D. W. Philo said the killer "deliberately and immediately" suffocated the baby on taking him from his crib. Today, the baby's body lay in a small white coffin in the room from which he was taken. "Our Darling" was engraved on a metal plate. Lutheran funeral services will be held tomorrow.

$200 A MONTH TRUST FOR WIDOW INVALID

State Supreme Court Holds J. M. Merz' Widow Entitled to Half of Estate.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 16. — A $300,000 trust fund established by Julius M. Merz of St. Louis two weeks before his death in 1934, under which his widow was to receive $200 a month for life, was declared invalid today by the Missouri Supreme Court, which held the widow, now Mrs. Louis R. Szombathy, was entitled instead to her statutory share of one-half the property.

The Supreme Court, Division 1, affirmed a judgment of St. Louis Circuit Court as to the widow's rights, holding that the purpose of the trust was to deprive the widow of her lawful share of her husband's property.

It reversed that part of the Circuit Court judgment which had held the trust valid in all respects except as to the widow. The remainder of the trust, upheld by the lower court and invalidated by the higher court today, provided also for $200-a-month payments to a brother, Dr. Adolph Merz of St. Louis.

In its decision the Supreme Court ordered the half remaining after delivery of the widow's half to Mrs. Szombathy to be turned over to the executors under the will of Julius Merz. Thus, apparently, Dr. Merz, a co-executor, becomes legal heir to the half to be turned over to the executors, since he and the widow were named equal heirs in the will, after specific bequests totaling $5500. The will disposed of about $44,500.

JURY REFUSES TO INDICT CHAMPION OF BRANDED BOY

Baltimore Youth Had Been Accused of Retaliating for Attack on Jewish Student.

BALTIMORE, June 16 (AP). — The grand jury refused to indict Morton Rosen, 19 years old, after a brief hearing today, and brought to an abrupt end court action growing out of the alleged branding of a 14-year-old Jewish boy by a group of classmates.

Rosen had been charged with assault and disorderly conduct following a fight which officials said was in retaliation for an attack on Melvin Bridge, Jewish student at Gwynn's Falls Junior High School. A crude "H" was cut on Bridge's neck after, he reported, he was taunted for being a Jew.

The jurors heard only nine of the 18 witnesses summoned. They questioned three students, the father of one, three school officials and two policemen. The hearing was conducted without a representative of the State's Attorney's office.

U. S. STEEL LOSES PATENT SUIT OVER COLD PROCESSES

Appeals Court Upholds Claim by A. F. Steckel, Idea Revolutionized Rolling Methods.

PHILADELPHIA, June 16 (AP). — The United States Circuit Court of Appeals upheld today the validity of two patents owned by the Cold Metal Process Co. on "rolling steel by the cold processes," in a decision important to the steel industry.

The process, devised by Abram F. Steckel, a mechanical engineer, in 1923, revolutionized the steel rolling method. Steel materials can now be cut much thinner and in longer lengths, and the costs of production and sales prices have been cut almost in half.

The Court held that the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation and the United States Steel Corporation infringed the two patents and would have to pay the Cold Metal Process Co. and Steckel damages and profits. These will be determined by a special master.

$25,000 BEQUEST TO NURSE OF J. J. SCHREWE UPHOLD

Relatives Lose Suit to Set Aside Will Naming Miss Mary Mueller as Beneficiary.

The will of John J. Schrewe, leaving the bulk of his $25,000 estate to Miss Mary Mueller, his "friend, nurse and companion," has been upheld by a jury in Circuit Judge Fran C. O'Malley's court. Joseph and Katherine Mulhall, brother and sister, 3923 Lafayette avenue, sued to set aside the will of the granuncle, alleging he was of unsound mind when he made it and was under the influence of Miss Mueller.

A retired cigar manufacturer, Schrewe died July 30, 1937, at the age of 70. He lived at 2739 Sherwood avenue. The Mulhalls said under a prior will their granduncle named them principal beneficiaries with a sister-in-law of Schrewe.

WHEN THE PRESIDENT FORGOT

Roosevelt Overlooks Bill He Signed June 7.

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP). — President Roosevelt frequently astonishes callers with the wealth of detail he keeps in mind about Government affairs, but today he slipped up.

In the give and take of questioning at his press conference he said a bill authorizing expenditure of $100,000,000 for strategic war materials had not reached his desk. Later a check of the records showed he had signed the measure June 7. It is one of about 300 to which he has put his name this session.

NAZIS DENY VALIDITY OF BLACK TOM RULING

Claimants in Two Blasts Unlikely to Get More Than $20,000,000 Deposited.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BERLIN, June 16 (AP). — A semi-official announcement said today that the German Government does not recognize the validity of the Mixed Claims Commission's decision holding the Reich responsible for the World War Black Tom and Kingsland munitions disasters. "It is emphasized here," the statement said, "that the decision does not jibe with the prescribed procedure and furthermore that it was taken as a signal for a new anti-German campaign. The German Government obviously does not recognize the validity of this 'arbitration' and reserves every right of action in this respect."

The statement pointed out that no German sat on the commission. An international commission at Washington, yesterday upheld American claims that German saboteurs were responsible for the Black Tom and Kingsland (N. J.) explosions in 1916 and 1917. Before the session of the German-American Mixed Claims Commission which rendered the decision, however, the German Embassy in Washington had questioned the commission's authority and had served notice that Germany would ignore any decision. Consequently, there seemed little prospect of a settlement.

In its decision the Supreme Court ordered the half remaining after delivery of the widow's half to Mrs. Szombathy to be turned over to the executors under the will of Julius Merz. Thus, apparently, Dr. Merz, a co-executor, becomes legal heir to the half to be turned over to the executors, since he and the widow were named equal heirs in the will, after specific bequests totaling $5500. The will disposed of about $44,500.

pect that the American claimants of $50,000,000 damages might receive more than the $20,000,000 which Germany already had deposited in the United States Treasury.

The ruling reversed a Hamburg decision of 1930 which absolved Germany of any connection with the disasters.

Pope's New Missionary Bishops. VATICAN CITY, June 16 (AP). — L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican newspaper, announced yesterday that Pope Pius XII would create a group of missionary bishops in the autumn. The number is expected to be 12, in commemoration of the 12 missionaries sent out by Christ.

Cattle Slaughter Reduced After Losses From Hoof-Mouth Disease.

BERLIN, June 16 (AP). — Germans will have to tighten their belts still further under a decree today reducing the slaughter of cattle 30 per cent to make up for losses resulting from hoof-and-mouth disease. The pork quota was raised 10 per cent.

HOUSE REJECTS RELIEF BILL

OF $534,000

Vote 201 to 82 —

ment of Change Republicans and tionary Democrats

$125,000,000 FOR P W A IS RETA

Some Amendments ed Designed to Lib Proposed Restriction Spending.

WASHINGTON, June 16 The House refused by a vote today to increase the $25,000,000 relief bill by $534,000.

Representative Casey, Massachusetts, proposed a change. He told Republicans that the bill would deprive the needy of additional funds.

The vote was by tellers, 250,000,000 appropriation brought by the CIO and Work Relief.

Earlier, the House approved amendments offered by its Sub-committee to liberalize some of the provisions proposed on WPA spending.

The subcommittee approved amendments to clarify provisions, four changes in the bill which have aroused most attention.

Specifically, it proposed change the $25,000,000 WPA building construction so that the agency could add to $50,000 on Federal building projects. Sponsors of the bill said that the latter amount.

The subcommittee also approved amendments to provide a provision permitting the allocation of relief funds to regular agencies up to $50,000 permit expenditure of up to $50,000 for non-labor projects.

WPA and that the appropriation of $25,000 on WPA be eliminated.

Immediately after reaching agreement, the subcommittee proposed concessions to the House floor.

The House adopted an amendment making Federal projects for WPA allotments by vote.

With a minimum of delay the House then adopted the House's amendment to the $25,000,000 of WPA fund on material costs. The subcommittee originally proposed the costs be limited to $6 a week effort, Representative V. (Dem.), Virginia, explained larger contributions from cities sponsoring the projects.

The House refused to set the Appropriation Committee vision earmarking $125,000 relief funds for the PW relief vote was 194 to 84.

Many Big Projects Affected Col. F. C. Harrington, W. Va., told reporters last yesterday cost limitation on WPA construction would "wash out of our best projects."

He criticized the proposed change as a misstatement of the proposal to $125,000,000 of WPA fund Public Works Administration result in a decrease of 17,000 workers in the next fiscal year. Harrington said he did not with the committee recommendation to abandon WPA projects.

PART FOUR

RELIEF BILL RISE
OF $534,000,000

Vote 201 to 82 — Proponent of Change Warns Republicans and 'Reactionary Democrats.'

$125,000,000 FOR PWA IS RETAINED

Some Amendments Adopted Designed to Liberalize Proposed Restrictions on Spending.

WASHINGTON, June 16 (AP).—
The House refused by a 201-to-82 vote today to increase the $176-000,000 relief bill by $534,000,000.
Representative Casey (Dem.), Massachusetts, proposed the increase. He told Republicans and 'reactionary Democrats' that the country would know they had combined to deprive the needy of the additional funds.
The vote was by tellers. The $2-250,000,000 appropriation had been sought by the CIO and Workers' Alliance.
Earlier, the House approved some amendments offered by its Appropriations Sub-committee designed to liberalize some of the restrictions proposed on WPA spending.
The subcommittee approved, in addition to some clarifying amendments, four changes in provisions which have aroused most opposition.
Specifically, it proposed to change the $25,000 limitation on WPA building construction projects so that the agency could spend up to $50,000 on Federal buildings and $40,000 on Federal funds on non-Federal projects. Sponsors' contributions would be in addition to the latter amount.
The subcommittee also approved amendments to restore to the bill a provision permitting the allocation of relief funds to regular Federal agencies up to $50,000,000; to permit expenditure of up to $7
a month a worker for non-labor costs and to require that at least 25 per cent of the labor on PWA projects be taken from relief rolls. There is no requirement for relief labor on the PWA now.
Unusual Procedure.
The subcommittee took the unusual procedure of proposing changes in a bill reported to the House only two days ago.
House leaders apparently failed to sway the subcommittee from its recommendation that a three-member board be substituted for the present single administrator of the WPA and that the proposed limitation of $25,000 on WPA projects be eliminated.
Immediately after reaching the agreement, the subcommittee took its proposed concessions to the House floor.
The House adopted an amendment making Federal projects eligible for WPA allotments by a voice vote.
With a minimum of discussion,
the House then adopted the subcommittee's amendment restoring the $7 a worker a month limitation on material costs. The subcommitee originally proposed that these costs be limited to $6 a worker in an effort, Representative Woodrum (Dem.), Virginia, explained, to force larger contributions from communities sponsoring the projects.
The House refused to strike out the Appropriation Committee's provision earmarking $125,000,000 of relief funds for the PWA. The teller vote was 194 to 84.
Many Big Projects Affected.
Col. F. C. Harrington, WPA chief told reporters late yesterday that the cost limitation on WPA building construction would "wash out many of our best projects."
He criticized the proposed administrative change as a mistake and declared the proposal to transfer $125,000,000 of WPA funds to the Public Works Administration would result in a decrease of 170,000 relief workers in the next fiscal year.
Harrington said he did not agree with the committee recommendation to abandon WPA theater projects.
"They employed a great number of persons in the only art to which they are adapted," he said, "and to discard the projects will throw a great many out of work. I was prepared to correct a number of mistakes that have been made and to carry on the projects in a new fashion."
Blocs Organize for Fight.
Meanwhile, divergent House blocs organized to fight what they deemed undesirable sections of the bill.
One group, headed by Chairman Sabath (Dem.), Illinois, of the House Rules Committee, sought to restore the $42,000,000 which the Appropriations Committee eluded from the $125,000,000 requested by President Roosevelt for the National Youth Administration.
It also wanted to eliminate the three-member board proposal and the proposed $25,000 construction limit. Sabath said those proposals

Unwelcome in Britain

FAILS TO SATISFY
RUSSIAN LEADERS

But British-French Envoys Press Efforts for Proposals Found 'Not Entirely Satisfactory.'

DEMAND LIKELY FOR MORE CONCESSIONS

Failure of First Conference Among Envoys and Officials Followed by Second Short Meeting.

MOSCOW, June 16 (AP).—In a fresh effort to overcome Russian reluctance to accept the latest British-French proposals for a tripartite mutual aid pact, envoys of Britain and France today had their second meeting in two days with Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov.
Results of the conference were not disclosed. The Western Powers were represented by British Ambassador Sir William Seeds, French Ambassador Paul Emile Naggiar and William Sprang, special envoy of the London Foreign Office, who brought the new proposals to Moscow.
Short Second Conference.
It was understood, however, that Molotov gave the diplomats an answer along the lines indicated in a Soviet communique issued after yesterday's initial conversations—that the proposals were "not entirely satisfactory" but not closing the door to further negotiations.
Today's talks were brief compared to yesterday's. Sir William and Strang returned to the British Embassy a little more than an hour after they had departed for the Kremlin by automobile.
In some quarters the communique, published in the morning papers, was interpreted as meaning that, unless the British and French offered further concessions, prospects for further negotiations were not bright.
For the moment the phrase, "not entirely satisfactory," was the only thing to indicate the prospect of agreement or disagreement in the long-drawn negotiations.
Moscow Official Statement.
A communique of 17 lines was published in the Government newspaper Izvestia:
"On June 15 the People's Commissary for Foreign Affairs Molotov received the English Ambassador Seeds, the French Ambassador Naggiar and the director of the central department of the British Foreign Office, Mr. Strang. Vice-Commissar Potemkin was present.
The conversation occupied more than two hours. Basic questions on which there is disagreement were discussed.
"The text of the British-French formulations on the subject of negotiations was handed to Comrade Molotov. The results of the first conversation and the personal of the British-French formulations are regarded in Soviet Foreign Office circles as not entirely satisfactory."
Departure From Custom.
Two aspects of the communique astonished foreign observers—the publication the very morning after the conversations was in contrast to policy hitherto followed—the fact that it was obviously a one-sided announcement.
A communique from one party in the midst of conversations saying that the results were "not entirely satisfactory" is a sharp departure from diplomatic custom.
Details of the new proposals were not disclosed, but it was understood they represented an effort to satisfy Moscow's demands for more comprehensive guarantees, including "all European countries bordering on the U. S. S. R., without exception."
Pessimistic observers thought that the latest developments in the Far East—with Britain and Japan locked in a diplomatic struggle over foreign rights in China—would make Moscow more exacting than ever, or that the threat that Britain needed Soviet co-operation in the Far East almost as much as in Eastern Europe.

PARIS GIVES SHOW
ON WHAT TO WEAR
IN THE NEXT WAR

Two-Piece Yellow Oilskin Suit With Gas Mask and Boots Popular.

PARIS, June 16. — Paris, which long has prided itself on being the world's fashion center, opened a new kind of style show yesterday, displaying what to wear in case of war.
The show is a 10-day "exposition of security" organized by the National Defense Ministry.
The favorite model appeared to be a two-piece yellow or green oilskin suit with a gas mask, mittens and rubber boots as accessories during air raids. Many of the hundreds who gaped at the exhibits were uniformed troops on leave-taking a bumsman's holiday.
The popular oilskin suits could be bought for from 300 to 600 francs ($7.95 to $15.90). They had capes that covered the head and bloom-ers that tucked into boots.
Accessories included portable fire-extinguishers, flashlights and cans of anti-gas chemicals.
To demonstrate the reason for all this the Air Ministry put on a special show of explosives, incendiary gas and shrapnel bombs.
The War Ministry, which long has guarded the secrets of its anti-aircraft defenses, put its newest guns on display. The major piece was a 75-millimeter anti-aircraft gun which fires 20 shots a minute with a range of 42,650 feet.
Others ranged from an eight millimeter machine-gun which fires 500 shots a minute at a 49,200-foot range to a naval gun of 90 millimeters with a range of 4875 feet.
Listening posts, lookout posts, sirens, sandbag defenses and dugouts surrounded by batteries also were on display.

CARDENAS IS KEY
IN OIL DISPUTE,
AID IN U. S. SAYS

Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs Discounts Hope
a New President Could Restore Wells.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 16. — Dr.
Ramon Beteta, Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs for Mexico, said in an interview at the Mexican Embassy here yesterday that the Mexican people would be extremely reluctant to accept an administration by foreigners of oil wells expropriated from American and British companies.
"The companies do not seem to realize that this is a question of nationalism as well as an economic question," Beteta said. "It cannot be settled solely on an economic basis."
"I have been told they have the hope that a new President in Mexico would be able to restore foreign administration. For several reasons this would be more impossible under a new President.
Obviously if any one could take a step in that direction it would be President Cardenas, who carried out the expropriation and could therefore afford to make concessions. A new President would immediately be accused of yielding to pressure."
Deadlocked on Issue.
It is on this issue of administration of the expropriated properties that negotiations being conducted by Donald Richberg, Washington lawyer, between the companies and the Government have "come to a standstill. Spokesmen for the companies have repeatedly declared that they would not accept Mexican direction of the properties, no matter what guarantees of payment were offered.
At the same time Beteta expressed hope of an eventual settlement on the basis of the understanding that Richberg and Cardenas worked out in the course of several meetings in Mexico in the spring. This depends, however, on

WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES G. ROSS

Sound Advice From Alf M. Landon to the Republican Party — It Is Not Only the President Who Has Been "Throwing Monkey Wrenches."

WASHINGTON, June 16.
SOME men wither away after a political defeat, others gain new stature. Of the latter class is Alf M. Landon, the Republican candidate for President in 1936.
If there ever was a man who might have been expected to sink into political oblivion after failure at the polls, it was Mr. Landon. His campaign was ineptly managed, his radio manner was unfortunate, his personality was completely overshadowed by that of his glamorous opponent; he wound up with only two states in his column. He seemed to be headed for a quick exit from the public view.
What is said here is not intended as a boost for the Kansas as a political possibility—for he has formally renounced all ambition in that direction and there is no reason whatsoever to doubt his good faith—but it is set down in recognition of Mr. Landon's fine conduct as an American citizen and a leader of the Republican party since his defeat. If a poll could be taken on the subject, there is no doubt it would show that his course since 1936 has raised him enormously in public esteem.
I have always felt that if he had not been pulled and hindered by sets of advisers in 1936, if he had been permitted to campaign throughout as his natural homespun self and along his own lines, he would have made a much better showing than he did. As the event showed, he could not possibly have won, but his admirable qualities would have been apparent much earlier.
The American people love a good loser, and Mr. Landon—unlike Al Smith—quickly proved himself all of that. None who heard him will forget the sportsmanship of his clever speech at a gridiron game not long after his defeat. Then came his effective aid to the administration in putting down the ill-advised Ludlow resolution; he showed then, concretely, that he had meant what he said when he recalled the old adage about politics ending at the water line. The same conception of Americanism animated him last year when he accepted the President's appointment as a member of the American delegation to the Pan-American conference at Lima, and made a speech exhibiting to the Latin-American nations the non-partisan character of the "good neighbor" policy. The service which Mr. Landon on that occasion rendered to the State Department—and to the nation—was invaluable.
Mr. Landon is now, in his capacity of titular leader of the Republican party, giving some sound advice to the party as to the kind of policy it should adopt for 1940 and the kind of candidate it should nominate. His experience as a candidate, his freedom from rancor in defeat, his staunch adherence to his principles while refusing to indulge in petty sharpshooting at the administration—these are attributes which entitle him to be heard with respect.
Mr. Landon says it is a "dangerous idea that we can elect anyone we nominate." He is warning the party against the nomination of a candidate who might want, or might seem to the people to want, to take the country along a road of reaction. He faces up to the reality that much of the change wrought by the New Deal was compelled by the pressure of events and is now a part of the accepted and inevitable pattern of American life. He does not want the party to go back to the "fantastic financial theories" must be repudiated if we are to have recovery; he says that of course we can't have recovery as long as the head man of the New Deal persists in "throwing monkey wrenches" into the economic machinery. But—and this is the important thing for the Republican party chieftains to read, mark and learn—it is not only the President who has been "throwing monkey wrenches." That is a practice that has been indulged in by the President's enemies as well—by "extremists on the reactionary side, people who are blind to the reality that the duties of Government in the United States are different and will continue to be different

NAZIS TO BUILD ROADS

German Engineers to Supervise Work—Berlin Lends Protectorate $48,000,000.

BRATISLAVA, Slovakia, June 16 (AP).—A program for the construction of highways leading to the Polish frontier has been drafted by the Slovak Government and its Nazi German protectors, it is learned today from official quarters. War Minister Ferdinand Sciatos said the highways probably would be of military significance.
Other officials said German engineers would supervise the construction linking trunk highways with those of other nations, including Germany.
Sciatos confirmed reports that Slovak factories in the Vag River valley were producing large quantities of war materials for Germany, which established a military protectorate over Slovakia March 16 during the breakup of Czecho-Slovakia.
Slovakia has 30,000 men under arms, the War Minister declared, and could mobilize 300,000 more.
Sciatos asserted recent desertations of Slovak soldiers and aviators to Poland occurred because they were "not acclimated to our new spiritual environment."
Sources close to the Government said last night that Nazi 120,000,000 marks (nominally $48-000,000) to the economically hard-pressed Slovak republic.
Simultaneously, Foreign Minister Ferdinand Duriansky told members of the Slovak National Assembly that Germany's guarantee of the little country's independence is
"of the highest importance."
"There is nothing standing in the way of Germany annexing a part or all of Slovakia, but her guarantee of our independence is valid," the Foreign Minister said. "She has also helped us economically."
He energetically asserted Slovakia had retained her sovereignty. Relations with other foreign Powers were improving and while he described relations with Poland as good, he added: "We cannot say as much for Hungary, but it can no longer be denied that we are getting on better terms with Budapest."
"Enemies of our state are whispering that we are not independent," he asserted. "These statements are based on the fact that

ZOG SAID TO BE MAKING
PLEA TO LIVE IN ENGLAND

LONDON, June 16 (AP). — King Zog and Queen Geraldine of Albania were said in official circles today to have asked permission to make their home in England.
These quarters said Zog and his Hungarian-American wife, exiles since Italy's Good Friday invasion of Albania, would be allowed to live in Britain on condition that they refrain from political activity.
The King and Queen, now in Turkey, recently took a three-month leave on a villa in Versailles, France, where the Duke and Duchess of Windsor once lived.
They were designed to "hamstring" the WPA and "sabotage" its program.
Other groups were backing amendments designed to boost the PWA fund to $500,000,000 and to add at least $27,000,000 to the $123-000,000 recommended for the Farm Security Administration.

BOLIVIA CELEBRATES EDICT
RESTRICTING MINING FIRMS

50,000 March to Palace; President Says Nation Is United to Defend Economic Sovereignty.

LA PAZ, Bolivia, June 16 (AP). — La Paz celebrated yesterday the recent decree by President German Busch limiting the right of foreign mining companies to send funds abroad. Even cable offices were closed for the holiday.
Fifty thousand persons marched to the presidential palace and heard the President assert Bolivia "is united to defend its political and economic sovereignty."
Veterans of the Chaco War with Paraguay, women and children, took part in a parade. Many carried posters supporting the President's decree requiring mining companies to deposit their foreign exchange drafts in the Central Bank of Bolivia.

"But if He Sees a 50-50 Chance of Losing, Nothing Could Make Him Try."

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP). — Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, former NRA Administrator, said last night
President Roosevelt would seek a third term "if he thinks he can get away with it."
"Nothing under the heavens could stop him," Johnson, now a newspaper columnist, said at a banquet of the International Restaurant Conference.
"But if, as the time approaches, he thinks there is a 50-50 chance that he would not win, nothing on God's green earth could make him try."
"How about Garner?" he was asked.
"He's a swell guy, but the real problem is not who will be the candidate, but who will control the party," Johnson said.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never back sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Government Regulation and Milk Prices.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

THE recent substantial cut in milk prices is interesting. For a long time, St. Louis consumers have been exploited in vital necessities. Milk is one of these; coal is another.

This exploitation is usually done by legal sanction, usually through some government body—city, state or national—and is accepted because of the plea that quality makes higher prices necessary.

With this explanation, both milk and coal were jacked up in price. Washing coal or making it a certain size is said to reduce the amount of soot and carbon in the smoke.

The net effect in the case of coal is a monopoly by the large coal mines and a nice, air-tight price-fixing combine. This involves the immediate ruin of small producers, and the resultant ruin of all producers as competitive fuels capture the field.

Interesting, then, is the case of milk. When it was admitted that some small distributors had made the market "chaotic" in other words, that small distributors with higher costs were selling milk at a profit substantially below the big producers with smaller costs.

This is a swell bit of debunking of government-run-everything, and the poor should rejoice that such a heartless, greedy setup has spoiled its own fun by over-reaching.

CAVEAT EMPTOR.

For and Against a Third Term.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
W. J. SHEA of Collinsville writes in Monday's Post-Dispatch that he fears Mr. Roosevelt will seek a third term, and for that reason he is willing to give the United States back to England, if it will accept us.

Like Mr. Shea, I once felt that might be the best thing to do. However, that was during Mr. Hoover's administration, when I lost my job and my home, which was half paid for because I could not pay the interest or taxes. I am now living in a rented house, but have a job and can pay the rent.

Yet, like Mr. Shea, I am still worrying, but this time it is that Mr. Roosevelt will not run for the third term. What does Mr. Shea want, another St. Louis Cal or a Food Supervisor for Belgium?
J. E. M.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

EVERY few days there appears in the newspapers a letter or speech suggesting that President Roosevelt run for a third term. Nothing could be more unreasonable. The two-term precedent is as firmly established as though it were a part of the Constitution.

After all the speeches Mr. Roosevelt has made in favor of democracies and democratic government, he could not possibly run for a third term, even should his nomination be tendered him. Nothing could be more pleasing to Mussolini or Hitler, and destructive of our democratic principles. ROBERT S. RUTLEDGE, Cape Girardeau, Mo.

Appreciation From the Public Library.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I WISH to express my appreciation of the editorial in the Post-Dispatch last Tuesday entitled "Public Library in Need," and of the cartoon of Wednesday, "A Great Public Servant Needs Help in His Job." These will help tremendously to bring to the attention of the people of St. Louis the present condition of the public library and its needs.

I believe the editorial and cartoon will also influence many people to read "The St. Louis Public Library Today and Tomorrow," the first survey of the library since its establishment in 1865.

Opposes Liquor Advertising.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
MOST of the time I go down the line with your editorial opinions, but your opposition to the Capper-Johnson bills designed to prohibit all advertising of liquor has my unqualified dissent. I have many reasons for favoring these bills. Here are just two:

(1) Dr. Edward Cowles, a psychiatrist, declared to the American Association for the Advancement of Science that "alcohol causes more deaths than cancer in any other ailment, though the diagnosis is usually traced to other causes, since it is counted a disgrace to suffer such effects from a willfully followed habit."

Any man should be able to see that the use of alcohol for beverage purposes should not be advertised as harmless and friendly, when in fact it is one of our most deadly enemies.

(2) Selling liquor is an easy way to make money, and the liquor business is out to make money regardless of what becomes of those who buy and use its products. John D. Rockefeller Jr., in his foreword to "Toward Liquor Control," says: "Only after the profit motive is eliminated is there any hope of controlling the liquor traffic in the interest of a decent society. To approach the problem from any other angle is only to tinker with it and insure failure. The point cannot be too heavily stressed."

America is spending from two and one-half to five billion dollars on liquor annually. This helps to explain why it is hard times for nearly everybody—except the liquor business!

DODGING THE ISSUE.

Twenty-one Senators, including the senior Senator from Missouri, have attacked the Hull neutrality plan in a statement which is not merely unrealistic but evasive and misleading.

The essence of the controversy between these Senators and Secretary Hull is whether the automatic arms embargo shall be repealed and guns and ammunition sold to nations able to pay for them in cash and bear them away in their own ships.

Never, until the last three or four years, was the right of a belligerent to purchase arms and ammunition from a neutral nation under these conditions in any way questioned. Suddenly convinced that it could legislate a formula to keep the United States out of war, Congress enacted the arms embargo without thought of its effect on the military resources of the various Powers.

It was enacted without regard to the obvious lessons to be drawn from our foreign policy in the period of our neutrality in the last World War. It was enacted without regard to the sympathies of the American people for the nations preserving free economic systems and democratic forms of government.

It has long since become clear that the arms embargo operates to weaken the nations whose systems of government correspond most closely to our own. The law would cancel out much of the value of the superior navies of those Powers. The law would write off much of the advantage of their greater financial resources. For unless these nations can use their financial resources to purchase arms and ammunition in this country, and their ships to transport their purchases home, the menace of the stronger armaments of the dictators is vastly increased.

If the polls of public opinion have any meaning, they show conclusively that the American people want the United States to follow a policy of moral and economic co-operation with the non-aggressive countries. They want the United States to co-operate with these nations by "methods short of war." Retention of the automatic arms embargo is the complete negation of such a policy.

The isolationist Senators are purveying pure cant when they speak of the move to repeal the arms embargo as a "scheme to get profit from the wars of other nations." They are peddling nonsense when they say, "Far more honest would be an open alliance with Great Britain, Japan, France or Russia."

Senator Clark and his fellow-signers of this statement know that President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull are not for one moment interested in profits from other nations' wars. They know that they are not interested in binding the United States in a covert alliance with the maritime Powers.

They must know, further, that if the arms embargo is kept on the books, it can be but briefly enforced in case of a war threatening the annihilation of the governments whose libertarian ideals agree with our own and whose defeat would open the way for Fascist imperialism to move to the attack in the New World. If they do not know this, let them consult the record and see how long much less drastic regulations imposed with a similar purpose lasted in the period of our neutrality during the last World War.

Do the Senators suppose that conditions would be any more favorable for an attitude of immovable calm on the part of the American people in case of another World War? Somebody, we grant, is being less than candid on this issue, but it is not President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull.

Twenty-one Senators have taken their stand. The remaining 75 should move resolutely toward the repeal of the arms embargo as essentially unneutral and as more likely to invite war than to prevent it.

OPPORTUNITY AND RESPONSIBILITY IN THE COUNTY.

St. Louis County takes a forward step with the enactment of the new county zoning law. As the measure bore the emergency clause, it now becomes the responsibility of the County Court to set up a county planning commission, which will work out a master zoning plan. The importance of the County Court's responsibility, and, in turn, of the responsibility of the planning commission-to-be, cannot be overstated. Everything depends on the vision of the commission and the faithfulness with which it does its work. Gratifying as is the enactment of the McCormick-Elliott bill, that is only the beginning of what should be a new era in the life of St. Louis County, and, hence, of the St. Louis metropolitan area.

RALPH PULTZER.

Ralph Pultzer was a sick man when, in 1930, he retired as publisher of the New York World to be succeeded by his brother Herbert. Since then he had never known real health. His death, which has just occurred at the relatively early age of 60, was not unexpected by his family and intimate friends.

As the eldest son of Joseph Pultzer, founder of the Post-Dispatch and architect and builder of the World of mighty journalistic memory, Ralph Pultzer assumed direction of the World on his father's death, in 1911. For 19 years the paper was his life. He proved more than an heir to a great property. He inherited the crusading tradition epitomized in the paternal injunction, "Never be satisfied with merely printing the news." The concept that publicity is an instrument for public service had been bred in the bone.

So the World swung on its ordained way. It lustily fought intolerance wherever it appeared—whether in the sanction of high officialdom under Attorney-General Palmer, or in the grandiose grotesquerie of the Ku Klux Klan. It fought predatory plutocracy on a thousand fronts. Its news columns tirelessly transmuted into action the tenets of militant liberalism so eloquently expounded on its far-reaching editorial page.

When the World died, informed contemporaries appraised Ralph Pultzer as a talented writer and as a publisher of resolute purpose who had kept the faith.

That judgment will, we like to believe, be now affirmed.

ACTION ON HELP FOR THE BLIND.

At last there is substantial ground for hope that the plight of Missouri's blind dependents will be relieved after all. Gov. Stark's message in their behalf last week has brought speedy results. The Senate Social Security Committee has reported favorably a bill to make the State eligible for about $1,000,000 a year in Federal aid. The misguided opposition to this measure, which caused its defeat earlier in the session, now has dwindled, since the threat of distress among these unfortunate dependents became real. Senator McReynolds, sponsor of the bill, considers enough votes are assured for its passage in the Senate. It is to be hoped the House will follow suit.

It would have been deplorable had the blind gone neglected for the ensuing biennium. The terms for the Government fund are fair and reasonable, and in the best interests of the beneficiaries. The Legislature has an opportunity to avert grave distress among a handicapped group by approving the measure.

A COLOSSAL EXHIBITION OF GALL.

For sheer cold-blooded gall, nothing in the long and sordid history of the Missouri insurance compromise has surpassed the latest move of 136 of the 137 stock fire insurance companies involved. They have the colossal effrontery to go into Federal court in Kansas City and announce they will fight any refund to the policyholders of the $7,190,782 they gained in the bribe-purchased settlement, that they will consent only to having the compromise set aside, and then to have the disposal of the fund decided anew.

Under the notorious "compromise," the companies and their lawyers got 80 per cent of the fund, while the policyholders got a measly 20 per cent. How that was managed is a matter of recent disclosure. It was managed by means of bribes to Boss Tom Pendergast and his creature, Insurance Superintendent O'Malley, from a slush fund raised by the companies and paid over by Charles R. Street, their agent.

In Gov. Stark's words, there are "800,000 helpless and defrauded policyholders all over Missouri." Certainly the companies must disgorge their loot, and certainly the swindled policyholders must get it back. Yet now, instead of making the best of a bad bargain, the companies decide to fight an honest settlement, to prolong litigation over a matter that has already been dragged out for years in the courts.

If they pay off now, one insurance company spokesman is quoted, the action will be taken to mean a confession of guilt in the bribery. It is a fallacious argument. What their refusal really looks like is a last-ditch effort to keep the ill-gotten gains in their clutches.

The companies now strike a virtuous pose and deny they knew what Street was doing. They raised the fund, did they not? They passed it to Street to bring about an advantageous settlement, did they not? Then by what legal casuistry can these companies deny responsibility for the actions of their agent?

Under any circumstances, it would have taken a long time for these companies to rehabilitate their integrity in the eyes of Missourians, so shocking were the disclosures of their business methods as brought out in the Pendergast and O'Malley processes. By persisting in their present stubborn and stupid stand, their good name will be forfeit indefinitely. And popular opinion will support their prosecution for bribery and the revocation of their charters to do business in Missouri.

The insurance companies have been caught with the goods. Why don't they be sensible and give up the loot as gracefully as possible? It is not yet too late to reconsider their unbelievably insolent attitude toward the courts and the public.

FARMER HOPKINS.

Secretary of Commerce Hopkins is about to join the agricultural population. He has leased a 388-acre Iowa farm for two years, with an option for its purchase. To be specific, it's the tract known to all the good folk out north of Grinnell as the old Spaulding place, and it's a nice layout: rolling pasture, rich crop land, some timber, a comfortable farmhouse, a creek meandering across the acreage.

Is this merely a farm real estate transaction, or a human interest item about a busy Cabinet officer's avocation? Maybe so, but perhaps it's something else. Mr. Hopkins has had some trouble identifying himself with Iowa lately, since he has been absent about 25 years, as social worker and Federal executive. He has acquired a New York voting address, and that isn't always an asset in politics. Native sons often bloom into favorite sons, but first nativity and residence must be demonstrated. So what?

So today we have a picture of Farmer Hopkins in the barn lot, inspecting a colt. Next we'll see him out among the corn rows, pitching hay and fishing in his Iowa creek. And maybe about a year from now, some mammoth coliseum will echo to the strains of "I-o-way, That's Where the Tall Corn Grows," and waving standards will display pictures of a Secretary of Commerce in harvest hat and overalls. Stranger things have happened.

GOV. STARK BATTLES THE GREAT KILLER.

Upward of 300,000 cases of syphilis in Missouri. An expected increase of 30,000 cases annually unless control measures are applied. An annual State hospital bill of $250,000 for care of State patients whose disability is traced to syphilis. An annual blind pension bill of $166,000 for the 15 per cent of blind persons whose sightlessness is attributed to the same disease.

Facts and figures like these make Gov. Stark's letter to the Senate Committee on Appropriations in behalf of provision for venereal disease control an appeal which the Legislature dare not ignore. As Missouri's chief executive pointedly phrased it, "if we leave out the humanitarian side and consider only the economic viewpoint, we cannot afford it."

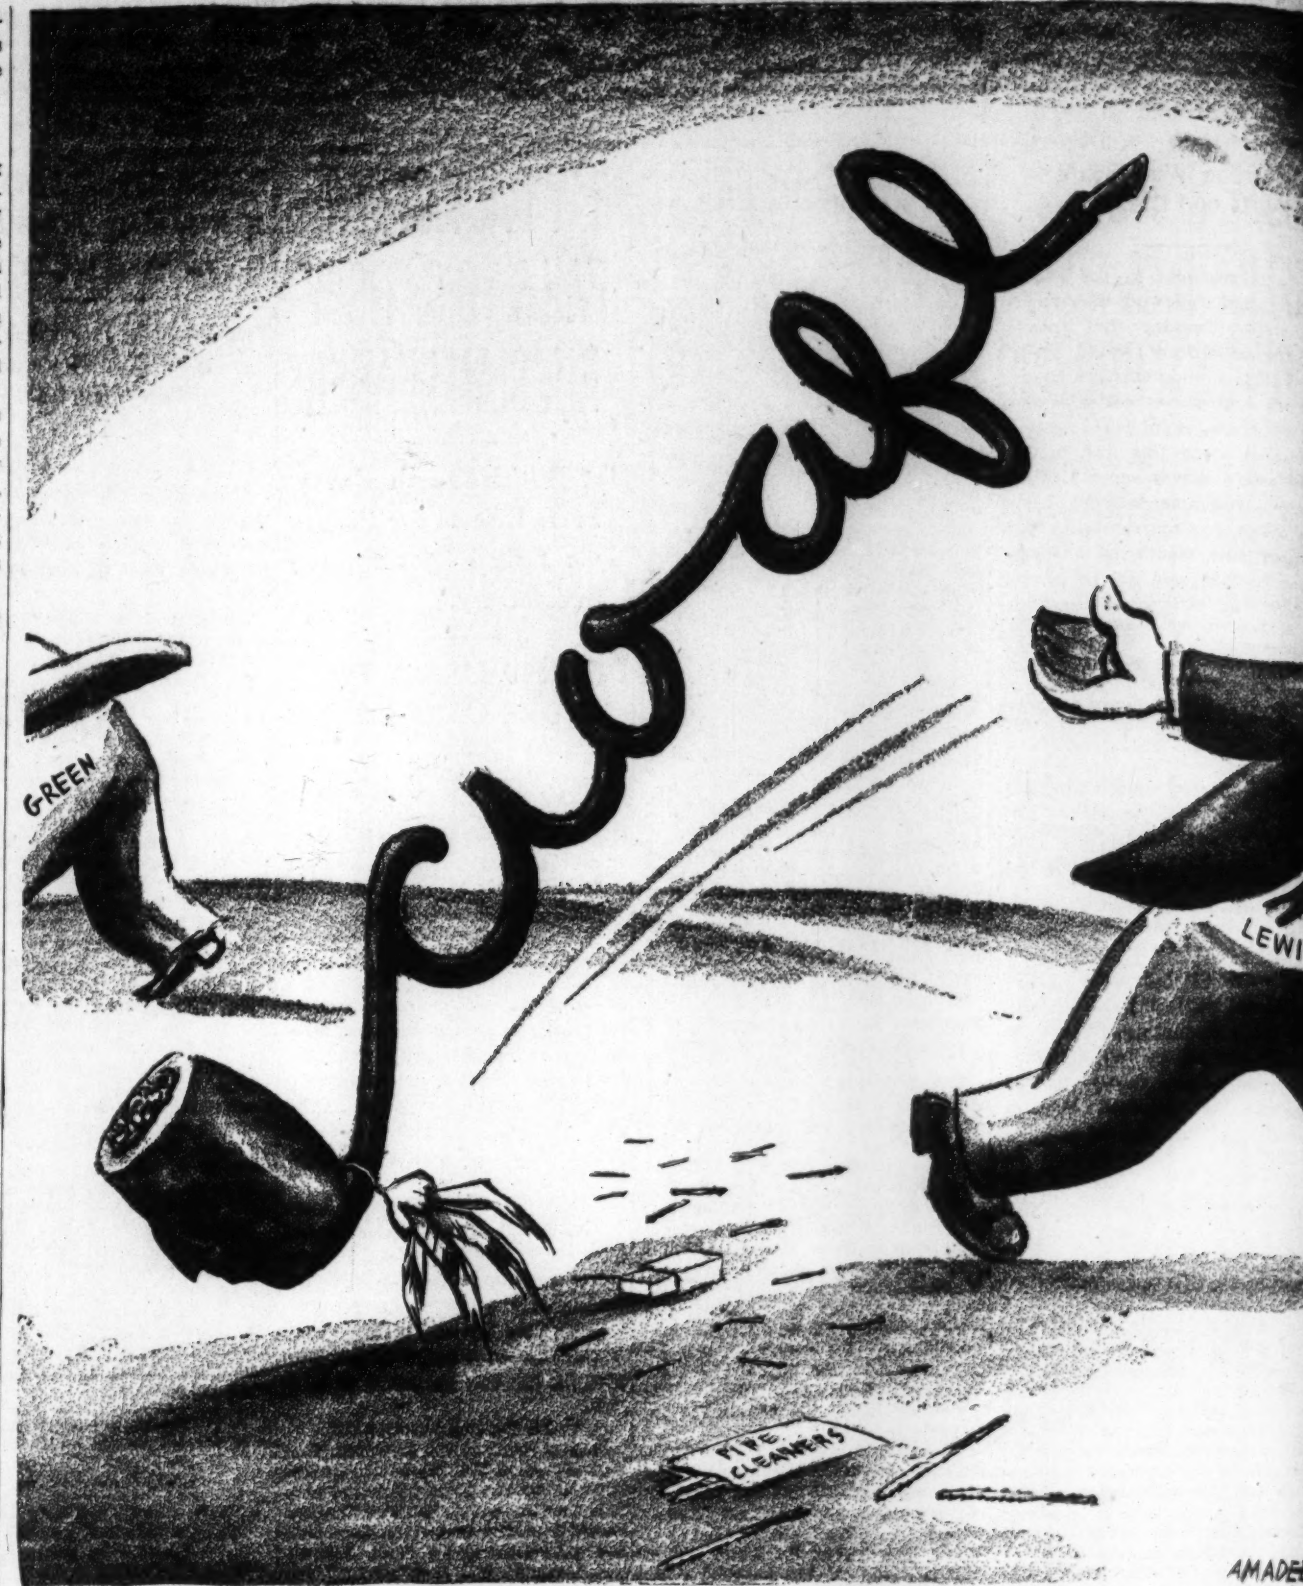

But the Legislature, being made up of human beings, must surely be impressed by the humanitarian side. Public Health Enemy No. 1 runs a heavy bill in broken lives and defeated hopes as well as in dollars and cents.

It is true that an appropriation for this kind of public health work would be something new in Missouri. Yet that it all the more reason to begin now. Because Missouri has been delinquent in this vital matter is no cause why it should go on being delinquent.

Federal funds for venereal disease control work are available on a matching basis. A State appropriation of $54,000, such as Gov. Stark asks, together with St. Louis and other Missouri funds for this purpose, will bring into Missouri about $174,000 in Federal funds. With this, an excellent beginning can be made toward venereal disease eradication. The Legislature should be quick to incorporate the appropriation Gov. Stark wisely proposes.

IT DIDN'T TAKE LONG.

Judge Joynt has taken back his proposal of secrecy for the recommendations of Missouri Judges in parole matters. In a letter to the Association of Circuit Judges, which last Friday adopted his cowardly plan, he says he will "welcome" another meeting, at which he will ask to withdraw his motion. This follows on the heels of a stand against secrecy by H. S. Johnson of Brookfield, one of the members of the Board of Probation and Parole, and the announcement of its chairman, Lieutenant-Governor Harris, that the board would meet soon to "take up the whole question of policy." Joynt's vicious rule may die formally through reversal by the Judges. It may be killed by rejection by the Parole Board. Whatever the method, the fact is that it is already dead as a doornail. Public opinion has won another victory—an important victory—and in double-quick time.

WHY IT DOESN'T DRAW

Fallacy of the "Farm Import Menace"

The Mirror
Public Opinion

Outcries that American agriculture is menaced whenever grain importation rises are based on error, writer says; figures show that foreign corn and wheat come in only when our supply falls below normal; trade pacts not responsible for increased volume.

N. H. Engle in the Christian Science Monitor.

THE rising tide of agricultural imports and their serious effect on the farmer are often played up in the press. Stories well implemented with official statistics have all the earmarks of authoritative and truthful statements. Nevertheless, they are often false and misleading in their implications. A saw a statement recently, for example, which pointed with alarm to the fact that imports of corn into the United States had risen from 348,000 bushels in 1932 to 86,365,000 bushels in 1937, and that wheat imports had expanded from 9,938,000 to 17,835,000 bushels over the same period.

From these facts, it was concluded, first, that the Hull trade agreement program was responsible, and second, that the interests of the American farmer were jeopardized by these imports. If one follows this line of reasoning, obviously something must be done to protect the farmer from this great influx of foreign grain and other farm products.

The above statistics are quite accurate and may be found in published official documents. They are not adequate, however, as a basis for the conclusions drawn from them. As partial truths, they engender falsehoods. The missing links in the chain of facts necessary to an understanding of the true picture will illustrate.

In the first place, production figures in 1932 show that the United States produced a corn crop of 2,575,611,000 bushels. This large harvest was more than ample for its needs and it was able to export 8,486,000 bushels. True, it imported 384,000 bushels of corn, but this was largely for experimental purposes, possibly for seed, for experimental use or for mixing or blending in special processes.

If we take the total production, deduct the exports and add the imports, we arrive at a figure of 2,577,473,000 bushels of corn available for home consumption in 1932, a fairly normal year. The crop was larger by some 500,000,000 bushels than the year before, but compared favorably with the average crop of the 1920s.

The price, however, was low, averaging about 32 cents per bushel for the year, as contrasted with nearly 60 cents for the year 1930-31. Actually, corn farmers fared rather poorly in 1932, despite the almost negligible imports.

Contrast 1932 with 1937 from this broader perspective. The corn crop for 1937 was over a billion bushels less than the 1932 crop. Following 1932, there had been two good corn harvests and three poor crops. The average production for 1935-37 was 1,766,000,000 bushels as compared with an average of 2,636,000,000 bushels for the years 1932-34, while the 1937 crop was but 1,507,000,000 bushels.

Despite imports nearly 250 times as great as in 1932, there were available for domestic consumption, after exporting some 6,000,000 bushels, but 1,587,516,000 bushels of corn, or nearly one billion bushels less than were available in 1932.

In the meantime, the average price per bushel received by farmers, responding to the sharply reduced supply, had been forced up by buyers from 32 cents to nearly 51. The average value of domestic production of corn rose from between $800,000,000 and $900,000,000 in 1932, to about $1,500,000,000 in 1937.

Thus the real reason for the vast increase in imports was the demand from domestic

Religion for a New Day

Books in the News

IT is the conviction of Jay William Hudson, Lathrop professor of philosophy at the University of Missouri, that the failure of the church to provide leadership, together with the rise of the natural sciences, has caused the disintegration of spiritual faith. In "The Old Faiths Perish" (D. Appleton-Century Co., New York), Dr. Hudson paints a brief and clear picture of the shift of the fundamental beliefs of the Western world. "In a practical age, science serves our human purposes. But the old faiths are not so practical; they do not serve our human needs as we have come to conceive them. So, the old faiths perish."

Although they may have failed us grievously in times of need heretofore, Dr. Hudson sees much hope for the future in the new aspects which these basically old faiths have taken. In the new organization of faith, the religious resources of mankind will be utilized in resolving or mitigating social conflict. The writer is convinced that these resources, however prone to debasement, must be seriously exploited, if human society is to be redirected with any degree of success.

Science has done much to confound the old faiths, yet Dr. Hudson feels that scientific truths fall far short of the totality of human experience. As he points out, little courage is required to believe in that which is demonstrable by experiment. Religion arises out of the cry of the individual soul. While never irrational, it is more than reason. In the new faith, a religion which is more irrational dogma is a dead religion, just as mere reason, taken as religion, is dead. Dr. Hudson is convinced that the creed of tomorrow will exist with courage and stability in enlightened rapprochement with the physical and social worlds. Faith will lead in straight lines toward great social objectives, instead of retreating before them, as in the past.

"Religion will once again take its rightful place in civilization—a saner and more pervasive place than ever before, because more deeply related to truth; and to life, for which all truth exists, and in which all faith must find its final meaning."

"The Old Faiths Perish" is a stimulating work, because it sees both religion and science as functional, and puts the functions of each on the basis of the working philosophy of individuals. The absence of dogmatic deadwood and the simple style of writing encourage re-reading. W. S.

NOW the mountain folk songs that are heard at the annual Singin' Gath'rin' at the Traipin' Woman cabin on the Mayo Trail, back from Ashland, Ky., may be sung by all who are so minded, for they are printed in a book, Jean Thomas, the Traipin' Woman, who directs the singin' gath'rin', wrote it from the gath'rin' that she did when she traiped the mountains, short-writin' at the courthouses, and she calls the book "The Singin' Gath'rin'" (Silver Burdett Co., Chicago). With the words of the songs, handed down from generation to generation and not set down before she gives the music, noted down as she listened to the singin' in many a mountain cabin through the Southern Appalachians. With her, Joseph A. Leeder has collaborated.

There is a complete edition, containing songs, piano accompaniments, descriptive notes, illustrations and complete script of the National Folk Festival, the more formal name for the annual singin' gath'rin'. There is also a student edition, containing melody line and script and directions for reproducing the festival in schools. F. A. B.

SCHOOL SURVEY URGED NEW AUDITING SYSTEM

Proposals Made Known in Connection With Board's Study, $4,000 Discrepancy.

An announcement by the Board of Education, following an executive meeting Tuesday, that its administrative officers would study improvements in auditing and accounting control has called attention to hitherto unpublished recommendations along this line in the recent school survey report.

These recommendations have been linked in discussion with the discovery last month of a discrepancy, now said to be about $4,000, in the official accounts of the suspended Assistant Supply Commissioner.

The survey urged modernization of bookkeeping methods in the auditing department, with greater reliance on mechanical aids; periodic checks of practice in handling of supplies and equipment; and extension of auditing control to the grade school lunchrooms and to students' extracurricular activities, not now subject to this supervision by the auditing department.

It also proposed provision of fidelity bonds and robbery insurance to cover all persons covering this protection, but not now required; adoption in schools having central treasurers of the policy of publishing adequate financial reports at intervals; and a comprehensive policy for the protection against bank failure of all funds for which the board might be considered responsible.

For Single Management. Grade school lunchrooms, operated only in certain districts where the need for pupil nourishment is greatest, are under direction of the instruction department. High school lunchrooms, already subject to check by the auditing department, are under the supply department. The survey recommended that all the lunchrooms be placed under a single management, coordinated in various ways with the educational process. Nothing has been done about this yet.

"Because there exists in the St. Louis school system," said the survey report, "several organizational units fully authorized by practice to handle their own funds, a great deal of variation can be found in the adequacy of the safeguards for these funds. In the absence of the past decade indicating the necessity for prudence in financial affairs, the example set by the board in protecting funds now considered under its jurisdiction has not been followed in some of the other units."

"Two significant characteristics of the tendency to maintain a highly conservative financial policy appear in the analysis of financial accounting practices. There is an inclination to cling to traditional methods, even after they have outlived their usefulness; and there is a modification only under pressure of compelling circumstances. There has been a reluctance to authorize changes which might work hardships on the personnel. The accounting practices, however, have been sufficiently complete to provide the evidence which the survey staff has sought."

Much Obsolete Equipment. As to the periodic checks of practices in handling supplies and equipment, the survey report suggested that the supervisory and teaching personnel participate in them, making recommendations for greater economy, greater promptness in delivery and adaptability to educational experimentation. The schools, it was added, have much obsolete equipment, which hinders educational work.

Requests of the supply department for appropriations for the fiscal year starting July 1 include $200,000 for textbooks, $146,000 for educational supplies, $95,000 for new material, about $75,000 for fuel, $68,000 for operating supplies, $21,000 for printing, $15,000 for equipment, $15,000 for furniture and $6,000 for planes.

The auditing department has requested $60,000 for purchase of files and mechanical accounting machines, in line with the survey idea, and an increase in the office payroll from $27,400 to $32,000. The board authorized one new clerkship in the department, at $1320 a year, Tuesday. The department may seek one more clerk, instead of two more, as at first contemplated, but may reduce the request for equipment funds. Adding machines are the only mechanical aids in this office now.

in return for a guarantee of integrity from Germany we voluntarily accepted some responsibility toward the Reich."

German Officials Deny Any Abnormal Troop Movements. BERLIN, June 16 (AP).—Nazi officials, irritated by reports abroad of German troop movements allegedly aimed at the partitioning of Slovakia, began a counter campaign yesterday against what they termed "foreign lies." They centered their fire on Great Britain.

Holding the British responsible for "a deliberate campaign of lies," they declared that Germany is making rapid headway in providing essential refinery machinery to re-equip Mexico's oil industry.

"I do not see why this should occasion surprise to anyone," Beteta said. "This broken down progress for a long time. It is a large new refinery out of it. Part of the equipment will come from the United States, equipment which Davis must pay for in cash. That is, it will come from the United States, it is the companies permit, since they control the sales of these special devices."

"But this is to the advantage of the companies. They will have in Mexico modern refineries instead of the junk they left behind them. We will be able to sell high octane gasoline in the Mexican market which we have never been able to do before."

Beteta said he was here to arrange for the mass repatriation of Mexicans now living in the United States. This will be done at the same time the Spanish refugees are admitted to Mexico. Beteta said he was not here in connection with the oil question and that he had not followed the progress of negotiations.

Ambassador Francesco Castillo Najera talked with President Roosevelt yesterday on the oil question, it is believed. He did not, however, seek an appointment with Richberg.

3.9 PCT. DROP IN TOTAL FUNERAL SERVICES OF SCHOOL AGE HERE

Number of Negroes, However, Increases in Five Years, Survey Shows.

There has been a decrease of 3.9 per cent in the population of school age in the city in the last five years—from 181,707 to 174,607—it is shown in a school enumeration completed today.

While the white population in this category declined 5.8 per cent in this period, the number of Negroes increased 10.1 per cent. School age limits are 6 to 20, being the range for which public educational facilities are required by law.

The findings of the enumeration, or census, carried out under direction of Secretary-Treasurer Philip J. Hickey of the Board of Education, bear out the observations of school authorities and other social agencies as to the drop in birth rate, carrying broad implications of changes going on in the character of the city's population. The figures may also reflect removals to the suburbs.

In the current census, 150,269 white children and 24,338 Negroes were reported, compared with 159,619 and 22,081, respectively, in 1934. Divided by sexes, there are now 75,790 boys and 74,479 girls among the whites and 11,837 boys and 12,501 girls among the Negroes.

The peak age of population in the school range is 12, with 13,946 inhabitants. There is a sharp drop in the higher levels, as follows: Age 18, 10,839; age 19, 7651; age 20, 5377.

A breakdown of the figures according to the 26 census and social districts into which the city has been permanently divided shows the distribution of school-age population. Districts of heaviest white population are as follows:

Soulard (west of the river and south of the railroad tracks), 13,722; Sherman Park (West End), 12,694; Cleveland (north of Carondelet), 9707; Hyde Park (lower North Side), 8846; Northwest (adjoining Baden), 8396; Cherokee (between Soulard and Cleveland, west of the river), 7988; Fairgrounds (central North Side), 7405; Carondelet (extreme South End), 6967; Tamm (west of Cherokee), 6853.

The smallest white population in any district is 1021 in Beaumont, a mid-town district, which, conversely, has the heaviest Negro concentration, 7934.

Next heaviest units of Negro population are as follows: Garfield, the western Negro community, 6136; Mill Creek, the downtown railroad section, 3533; Ranken (adjoining Mill Creek on the west), 2092; and Downtown, 1408 (compared with 1875 whites in the latter district). Elsewhere Negro residents of school age are comparatively few in number. Districts having none are Gardenville, Southwest and Southampton, covering the southwestern part of the city.

Negroes constitute 13.9 per cent of the city's school population. They are concentrated in the lower central portion of St. Louis.

The enumeration, which must be made every five years under the law, is primarily for use in determining the local allotment of State school funds, but will be of value also for study of population trends in planning changes or additions of school facilities.

It was carried out under supervision of John H. Gerling, supervisor of special projects for the board. He employed 175 enumerators, who were paid 4 cents for each name reported, the total payroll cost being about $7600. Ten of the board's attendance officers acted as overseers.

In the last enumeration, in 1934, the board went farther than was required and made a complete check of the city's population, including unemployment and other factors. That census showed a total population of 517,601, a decrease of 4359 from the figure of the Federal census of 1930.

AUSTRALIAN FILM AT LOEW'S RENEWS A FAMILIAR FORMULA

"Captain Fury," Typically Western, Achieves Individuality by Change of Background.

A typical Western story, with the one great difference that it is staged on an Australian rather than an American frontier, "Captain Fury," which arrived at Loew's Theatre last night, is a surprisingly fresh and thrilling motion picture. The film stars Brian Aherne and Victor McLaglen as a kind of Robin Hood and Little John, who protect the settlers of small farms against a greedy land baron.

Although the landscapes for the action are indubitably California, background scenes from Australia have been employed to create a foreign atmosphere. The type of settler's cabin is strange, too, and from time to time, kangaroos, laughing jackasses and other beasts and birds of Australia are glimpsed. Most of the thrills come, however, from seeing the malefactors upset or watching some daring feat of horsemanship, such as that old standby, the leap off a precipice into a stream. Aherne, McLaglen and Paul Lukas give the standout performances.

Loew's associate feature, "Missing Daughters," puts Richard Arlen on the trail of a "hostess racket," the nature of which is not too clear. A fair amount of excitement results from "Torchy Runs for Mayor," and "Charlie Chan in Reno," the two features which opened yesterday at the St. Louis Theatre are typical of the melodrama series in which each is issued. Glenda Farrell plays Torchy Bane, the girl reporter; Sidney Toler is Charlie Chan.—C. Mc.

GERLING FOR TEACHERS' PAY AND LIVING STANDARDS STUDY

In Letter He Says Consideration of School Economies Calls for Such a Study.

In a letter to the public school teaching corps yesterday, Superintendent of Instruction Henry J. Gerling said that consideration of school economies called for a study of salaries and living standards. He expressed hope that such a study could be made, but said that, if it was, no conclusions could be reached or forecasts made before the reopening of the schools in September.

Counsel and co-operation of teachers and principals will be sought in formation of policies, he added. Attention, he declared, should be given to frugality in administrative expenditures and in maintenance of schoolhouses. The letter called attention to the continued expenditure by the board of more than its current income, with the prediction that the excess would be more than $1,000,000 in the coming fiscal year.

Acute financial problems were growing in all large American schools systems, he related, saying the situation was not as bad here as elsewhere, and that St. Louis was not facing radical salary reductions such as had become necessary in some other cities.

MOST NATIONS SICK OF WAR, SAYS FORD

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP).—Henry Ford said at the New York World's Fair today that "most of the nations represented here are so sick of war that, if it only rested with them, there would never be another one."

His address ran about 300 words. "All this progress," he said, "did not come from passing laws or making speeches—it came because men did something to serve an unfulfilled need; it came from men's hands and from the land."

His last previous speech in New York was a one-sentence, 25-word six-second statement at the American Newspaper Publishers' Association dinner more than a year ago.

The occasion of his address today was one close to his heart. He welcomed to the fair grounds the 27,000,000th Ford automobile, which had been driven here from the San Francisco Exposition.

"It was the World's Fair 46 years ago," he recalled, "that I got an idea that started my mind working on what proved to be my life's job."

He referred to the Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893. There he saw a fire engine with a gasoline-powered pump, and went home determined to construct a gasoline motor light enough to mount on a carriage, but strong enough to pull it. He built an engine with materials costing less than $1, and it became the forerunner of 27,000,000 others.

Harking back to his own experience in 1893, Ford added, "the principal thing the young man—the real maker of the world of tomorrow—will see at this fair is that the work motif of the fair outrips the profit motive."

Of the various nations' exhibits, he said, "these exhibits, and not their wars, show their real character. The nations of the world have sent to this fair the things they are really proud of, the things they want to be judged by. They haven't sent their bombs and poison gas and samples of their concentration camps—they're not really proud of those things; they wouldn't want to exhibit them."

THE REV. HUGH B. MACMAHON OF MARQUETTE U. DIES AT 75

Former St. Louisan Began Law Regency at Milwaukee in 1916—

Once at St. Louis. Special to the Post-Dispatch. ST. LOUIS, June 16.—The Rev. Hugh B. MacMahon, S. J., regent of the Marquette University School of Law and a former St. Louisan, died at a hospital here today after a long illness. He was 75 years old.

Father MacMahon's regency began in 1916, when he founded the law school. Before that he taught classics and was the oldest Jesuit at the university in years of service, having been stationed there 31 years. Previously he taught at St. Louis University, of which he was a graduate, for several years.

He was born in Ireland, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael MacMahon, had returned for a visit after having emigrated to America. Earlier, his father had fought in the Civil War in America. Returning to America, the elder MacMahon became a St. Louis policeman.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Mary A. Lahey, 2812 St. Vincent avenue, and Mrs. Elizabeth Dockery, 516 Shenandoah avenue, both St. Louis.

WHEAT FALLS TO LOWEST LEVEL IN 6 WEEKS

CHICAGO, June 16 (AP).—Wheat prices fell to the lowest level in six weeks today but recovered about half of the cent-a-bushel losses before the close.

Prospect of increased receipts of new wheat in the Southwest, a return of favorable weather for harvesting and more rain and cool weather in the spring wheat belt, were factors that encouraged selling.

Wheat closed 1/4¢ lower than yesterday, July 22 1/2¢, September 24 1/2¢, corn 1/4¢ higher, July 49 1/2¢, September 51 1/2¢, oats 1/4¢ higher.

The Northwest again had rain and unsettled weather in the spring wheat belt for North Dakota and parts of Minnesota, although clearing skies were predicted for the rest of the belt. While clear weather in the Southwest was believed favorable for harvest operations, temperatures were very high in some areas and this caused concern for later wheat.

Buying support from millers interested in the decline at times and independent strength at Liverpool, which was fractionally higher at one stage, attracted attention. Greatly enlarged import demand for wheat from Europe and the Far East and Central European political situations and the desire to accumulate wheat in the East caused an all-time low in the English market.

Argentine shipments of 7,784,000 bushels this week, the largest in more than two years, caused some selling at Liverpool. Corn and oats prices held fairly steady with receipts only moderate and industrial demand good in both markets. Rye, however, declined with wheat, losing almost a cent in the case of July contracts.

Lard was steady.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, June 16.
In the cash grain section of the market today corn was unchanged to 1/4¢ up and wheat 1¢ lower.

Rates made on the floor of the exchange were as follows:

WHEAT—No. 2, red winter, 77¢.
CORN—No. 1, yellow, 52 1/2¢; No. 2, white, 51 1/2¢.

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP).—Cefarino Garcia, Los Angeles Filipino who knocked out Walter (Popeye) Woods last night, and Fred Apostoli, recognized in New York as the world middleweight champion, today agreed to meet in a 15-round bout in Madison Square Garden, Sept. 7. MCCLENNAN SECRETARY AT WASHINGTON PARK

FOR HIS FIFTH YEAR CHICAGO, June 16 (AP).—Charles J. McLennan will return to Washington Park, Chicago, as racing secretary for his fifth straight season when the 30-day meeting opens July 31.

McLennan, one of the top ranking secretaries in the business, appeared lost to the Midwest when he signed a contract (for $25,000 a year) with Suffolk Downs that placed him on all-year-round call there. However, his schedule permits him to return to Washington Park, the only track he will serve in the Midwest.

ROCHESTER, Minn., June 16 (AP).—Announcement of the finding in a physical checkup on Lou Gehrig, New York Yankee first baseman, may be delayed until tonight or tomorrow, it was said today at the Mayo clinic. The physician in charge of the case was out of the city today.

PIRATES STING BEES; BOB KLINGER HURT

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 16 (AP).—Lee (The Jeep) Handley drove in three runs and stole two bases today as the Pittsburgh Pirates broke their six-game losing streak and beat the Boston Bees, 4 to 2. Bob Klinger was hit in the knee in the ninth by a batted ball and was forced to retire.

Newark Gets Duke Star.

NEWARK, N. J., June 16 (AP).—Russ Bergman, captain and shortstop on the 1939 Duke University basketball team, was added to the playing list of the International League Newark Bears yesterday.

M'NEILL TO PLAY RIGGS IN FRENCH TENNIS FINAL

PARIS, June 16 (AP).—Don McNeill of Oklahoma City today defeated Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., to enter the final of the French hard courts tennis championships against Bobby Riggs of Chicago, America's No. 1 ranking amateur. The scores were 6-2, 7-5, 7-9, 6-2.

Riggs scored a straight set triumph yesterday over Otto Szeglet of Hungary. McNeill, ranked No. 13 in the U. S., and Riggs will meet Sunday.

Cooke played a steady game throughout, while McNeill, after a brilliant start, appeared to tire quickly in the third set, but pulled himself together to take the fourth.

The Oklahoma boy dropped match point six times before he finally put over the winning shot.

In the women's doubles the French champion, Mme. Simone Mathieu, and the Polish star, Jadwiga Jadziowska, defeated Mlle. A. Weivers of Luxembourg and Mlle. Cosette St. Omer Roy, 6-3, 6-3, to enter Sunday's final.

MISS BARRETT EASY WINNER IN WESTERN SEMIFINAL

By W. J. McGoogan

WESTWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, June 16.—Miss Beatrice Barrett, defending champion, went into the final round of the annual Women's Western open golf tournament here this afternoon with an 8 and 7 victory over Mrs. Sam Israel, New Orleans, in their semifinal match this afternoon.

Miss Helen Dettweiler, Washington, D. C. professional, was 4 up on Miss Jeanne Cline of Bloomington, Ill., at the end of nine holes but Miss Cline rallied and won the next three holes.

Miss Barrett, displaying her best golf she has shown all week, was out in 39, two over women's par, while Mrs. Israel, finding considerable trouble, picked up on the seventh hole after knocking her tee shot to the left in the trees.

At the ninth hole, Miss Barrett's third, a chip from the apron of the green, hit the flag and the ball would have gone into the hole had the flag been removed. As it was she got a 4.

The cards with women's par: Out: Par — 534 454 354—37 Miss Barrett — 535 455 354—39 Mrs. Israel — 645 556 465—xx

Miss Dettweiler, also playing very well, was out in 42 while Miss Cline took 48, by far the worst she has done in the week. Still the youngster would necessarily be expected to have on such round in a week.

Their cards: Miss Dettweiler — 545 454 555—42 Miss Cline — 546 555 477—48

All attention was centered, naturally, on the title matches so the victory of Mrs. Mahlon B. Wallace of the St. Louis Country Club over Mrs. Helen Hicks Harb, Long Island, N. Y., was in eclipse.

Mrs. Harb, national champion in the 1931, was eliminated from the title flight by Miss Dorothy Foster, Springfield, Ill., but it seemed certain that she would win the consolation but Mrs. Wallace surprised by defeating her, 2 and 1.

Mrs. Wallace will play Mrs. Richard I. Caughey, Green Briar, in the final of the flight tomorrow. Mrs. Caughey won from Mrs. J. L. Bauman, Algonquin, 3 and 2.

Score for Miss Barrett. Miss Barrett had a scare at the hands of Miss Phyllis Buchanan, Denver, in the quarterfinals. She eked out a one-up victory in 20 holes and she faces a worthy opponent in Mrs. Israel, who showed her mettle in winning from Miss Ellamae Williams, Chicago, 3 and 2.

You would never have thought that the defending champion was playing as the Misses Barrett and Buchanan went around. It was not until they reached the seventeenth green that the gallery turned from other matches, and yet it was one of the most hotly contested battles of the round.

Prior to that not more than a half-dozen persons watched them but they played fine golf, with Miss Buchanan holding a one-up lead at the turn and increasing the margin to two up through the twelfth.

Then Miss Barrett went to work. She won the thirteenth and fourteenth to square the match and went one up at the seventeenth for the first time with a par four.

But Miss Buchanan whistled a final No. 4 wood shot to the eighteenth green and forced the issue to extra holes with a par four against Miss Barrett's five.

They halved the nineteenth. At the twentieth, Miss Buchanan was in a deep trap in front of the green, Miss Barrett was over the green on a slope. Miss Buchanan came out nicely, but some 15 feet from the pin, while Miss Barrett

DOEG DEFEATS IMHOFF; COEN MEETS SABIN

By Robert Morrison

TRIPLE A, June 16.—John Doeg of Rumson, N. J., became one of the four semifinalists in the Triple A tennis tournament when he defeated Douglas Imhoff of Long Beach, Cal., 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2, in the quarterfinals here this afternoon.

Immediately afterward, Wayne Sabin and Junior Coen of Kansas City took the court to compete in the last quarterfinal singles match of the tournament.

Gene Mako of Los Angeles and Frank Parker of Pasadena have already reached the semifinals. Mako eliminated Edward Alloo of Berkeley, Cal., 6-3, 6-1, 6-3, and Parker won from Robert Kamrath, Austin, Tex., 3-6, 7-5, 6-1, 2-6, 6-0, in yesterday's quarterfinals.

They had Parker typed as the mechanical man of the Triple A tennis tournament and the 1937 Davis Cup star did look like one until he reached the quarterfinal round. Then he showed he had something less and something more than a mere robot.

Frank had a backhand stroke that appeared nothing short of perfection. His forehand, outstanding defect in his play in the past, was sturdier. And the way he moved around the court so smoothly and certainly was sheer symphony of motion.

But, after all, he is human, and he ran into trouble. Bob Kamrath of Texas University, fourteenth ranking player in the United States, was the trouble.

But again, after all, Parker is at tops and he showed it when he got out of trouble and won the five last match.

Kamrath had a hot service and plenty of power early in the encounter. Parker, somewhat off his game, lost the first set, 3-6. He had courage and stuck to his guns, however, and won the next two sets, 7-5, 6-1.

After a rest period, they returned to the court and renewed their struggle under the blazing sun. Kamrath, refreshed, pounded to a 6-2 set victory. But Parker, showing how his forehand strokes were improved, shut the Texan out in the last match.

Kamrath of Austin, Tex., and Warren Christner of Topeka, Kan., eliminated Gus Boehmer of St. Louis and Bob Harmon of Oakland, Cal., 6-0, 6-0, in a second round doubles match this afternoon.

Finals in singles and doubles will be played Sunday.

The favored Sabin-Doeg and Mako-Parker teams began doubles play yesterday, defeating St. Louis opponents. Sabin and Doeg shut out Wayne Smith and Harold Wieser, 6-0, 6-0, and Mako and Parker beat Ed Serrano and Karl Hodge, 6-1, 7-5.

A crowd of about 600 attended yesterday's matches.

Yesterday's Results.

SINGLES. Third Round—John Doeg, Rumson, N. J., defeated John Shostrom, Chicago, 9-7, 6-1.

Quarter-final round—Gene Mako, Los Angeles, defeated Edward Alloo, Berkeley, Cal., 6-3, 6-1, 6-3; Frank Parker, Pasadena, Cal., defeated Robert Kamrath, Austin, Tex., 3-6, 7-5, 6-1, 2-6, 6-0.

On the Galento Front.

PEAKING of the Galento front, what has happened to Tony's? Our most recent training camp photos seem to indicate his front-to-back axis is considerably shortened. That bold equatorial-promontory of a few weeks ago, is now just a gentle mound.

Could Two-Ton Tony have been training? He certainly appears to be a couple of cases thinner. That wizard among managers, Joe Jacobs, has either talked or scared Galento into some real work, evidently.

Publicity on the fight continues to harass the mail services. It is good drum-beating, but there are some things that make you wonder if you can find veracity any place except in the dictionary. This, believe it or not, came this morning:

"Galento never neglects his road work, carrying his 235 pounds over the New Jersey shore roads every morning five to 10 miles.

CALIFORNIA U. FAVORED TO WIN POUGHKEEPSIE REGATTA

WASHINGTON CREW PICKED AS RUNNER-UP

Navy and Cornell Likely to Give Western Squads Their Hardest Competition.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 16 (AP).—Those big, bad boys from the West are in again, and they've got the East's college rowing coaches scared right out of their wits.

Of the 17 varsity races held on the Hudson since 1921, California and Washington have won nine. In their non-winning years, one or the other has finished second all but twice. Tomorrow California will be a heavy favorite to rack up No. 10 for the West in the four-mile pull, and Washington, radically revamped and greatly improved since its six-length defeat by the Bears two months ago, is a good bet for second.

"But what can we do about it?" one of the Eastern coaches complained today. "Nothing, so long as the race is run under the present set-up."

More Practice in West. "The Western schools, with open water almost all year round, practice in the fall and start again in February. In mid-April they race at three miles. From then on, they have nothing to do but work for Poughkeepsie and its four miles. What do we have to do? At the time the Westerners settle down to four-mile workouts, we're barely beginning our sprint season. When that's over, we have just about two weeks in which to drill the boys for an entirely different type of race."

"What's more, their classes end early in May. From then on they can work twice a day. Heck, some of our kids are still worrying about examinations no more than a week before the race."

Obviously class-room schedules can't be revised to suit the rowing schedules. And nobody, since Mark Twain first said it, has been able to do anything about the weather. But this coach feels it would be at least a partial solution to cut the varsity distance to three miles.

Navy Best in East. "That would lift some of the mental burden off the boys," he explained. "They can row four miles, sure. But they can't do it half as well when they go into a race knowing California and Washington have been rowing at that distance for two months, and they've been doing it for only two weeks."

Despite all this pessimism, however, the Eastern eight will be in there giving their best. Their best, from here, looks like Navy, last year's record breaking winner, and Cornell, which beat Navy, Harvard and Syracuse and lost by only 10 feet to Yale in the Carnegie Cup race. Lack of the proper drive seems to be hobbling the Ithacans right now, although Coach Harrison Sanford is hopeful of having his sweep-swingers keyed up by starting time at 4 p. m. (St. Louis time) tomorrow.

Browns Fail To Get Pitchers; Mel Almada Sold

The Browns last night sold outfielder Mel Almada outright to the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League.

At the same time the St. Louis American Leagueers admitted that efforts to obtain two pitchers before the expiration at midnight of the trading season had fallen through.

Almada was obtained last year from the Washington Senators for Sam West in a straight player trade.

SEMI-PRO CONGRESS LIMITS USE OF FORMER PROS TO 3 ON A CLUB

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP).—The maximum number of ex-professional baseball players with Class AA or major league experience eligible to compete with a semi-pro club in the National Semi-pro Baseball Congress program for 1940 has been set at three, President Ray Dumont announced today.

There are now no eligibility rules regarding the former status of a player.

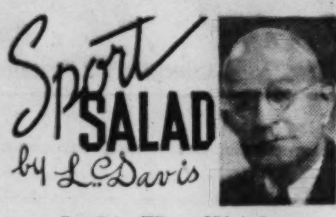

He explained that all players are now eligible to compete in a sanctioned district or state event preceding the National finals, with the exception of those who have played in professional baseball since June 15, 1938.

First of the district tournaments will be held at Youngstown, O., opening tonight.

SEDALIA TEAM TAKES LEAD IN INTER-CITY GOLF TOURNAMENT

SEDALIA, Mo., June 16 (AP).—The Sedalia Country Club golf team took the lead in the Inter-City golf tournament yesterday afternoon with 500 1/2 points, after a series of medal games here. Columbia now is second, Jefferson City third and Fulton fourth.

Medalist honors were divided between Russell Rinklin, Jefferson City, and Harry Millard, Fulton, with 73. The next series will be in Columbia.

So It's That Way? Oh, Mr. Gallagher! Oh, Mr. Gallagher!

Do you think that you'll be happy with the Browns? Having been a Yank, you know, Will it irk you much to go to a team that has so many ups and downs?

Oh, Mr. Barnes, Oh, Mr. Barnes, Let's forget the dreary past and look ahead. For with you and Bill De Witt I will surely make a hit. Absolutely, Mr. Gallagher! Positively, Mr. Barnes!

ABSOLUTELY, MR. GALLAGHER! POSITIVELY, MR. BARNES!

Joe Jacobs says he will insist upon the Boxing Commission having somebody examine Joe Louis' gloves after every round. Dirty work at the crossroads. Better turn it over to the FBI fingerprint department.

While he is at it the mitt inspector might extend his field of action and examine Tony's chicken coop to see if all the fowls are present and accounted for.

What, No Melon. Joe Gallagher, who made a scintillating debut with the Browns at Philadelphia Wednesday night, says he would rather play regularly with the Browns than sit on the bench with the Yankees. Looks like first division.

What Joe Medwick did to his old pal Leo Durocher's Dodgers T. B. day is an illustration of how friendship ceases when the checks are down.

The 10,000-meter walking match was practically a walkover for Albert Ciceroni of Newark, who won by 300 yards.

Albert's time was some 12 minutes over the record but he probably could have stepped it up a bit had he been pushed.

Wa Dosh Li'l Birdie Shay? The people of Wauwatosa, Wis., have solved the starting pest problem by feeding the birds a diet of soaked with whisky and then gathering them in after they have succumbed to the soporific combination of rye and oats. The boiled owl long has been a standard of comparison for defining degrees of intoxication but the stewed starling adds a new angle to the much-mooted question of what constitutes a louse.

Judge Landis bought the first centennial baseball stamp from Postmaster-General Farley. It was a three-bagger. They don't go in for singles and doubles in memorial stamps.

See where the Tigers have acquired outfielder Averill, known to the trade as the Earl of Snohomish. It was a noble idea.

Although Snohomish sounds more like an Indian tribe the "Oil" did get along very well with the Cleveland brand of redman. So Big Chief Slapnicka passed him along to the Tigers.

There were 10,120 paid-up policyholders at the game between the Browns and Athletics in Philadelphia Wednesday night. Not bad considering the standing of the two clubs.

Lemoy Wins by Knockout. Frenchy Lemoy, George Williams' latest addition to his boxing stable, won his second victory as a professional last night at Owensboro, Ky., where he knocked out Jimmy Davis, an Owensboro product, in the sixth round. Williams induced Lemoy, the former Golden Glover, to turn pro about two months ago.

Hole in One. Charles Crosley made a hole in one on the fifth hole at Meadowbrook Country Club yesterday. Using a No. 6 iron he shot his ace on the 140-yard hole while playing with Gus Koch.

Wear Here, Says Riggs Is Sure to Be No. 1 Player On U. S. Davis Cup Squad

Joseph W. Wear of Philadelphia, former St. Louisan, who is vice-president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, attended the Triple A tournament yesterday, but not in official capacity.

He is in St. Louis for the marriage of his nephew, Louis Walker, tomorrow. It was thought perhaps that as a member of the Davis Cup team selection committee, he was here as an official observer.

"No, Walter Pate, the captain, will have the most to do with the selection," Wear said as he watched Frankie Parker, one of the cup hopes, play Bob Kammath.

This recalled the fact that Pate resigned his captaincy shortly after Don Budge turned professional last fall. Since then Pate has appeared in news items from the East as captain of the team again. Wear was asked about this.

"Yes, he did resign," Wear said. "He wanted to withdraw because of the pressure of other business, but he was prevailed on to keep his post. He knows more about the players and naturally he will be the one to make the selections."

Riggs Sure to Be No. 1. The cup team will be named just before the national doubles tournament at Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hills, Mass., Aug. 13-19. Wear said, and Bobby Riggs, now playing in Europe, is certain to be the No. 1 man.

"That is, unless something happens to him in the meantime," Wear said. "There are many boys still having a chance to make the other positions of the team. Parker, Wayne Sabin, Joe Hunt, Elwood Cooke and others are all to be considered."

"You know Joe Hunt is a big, fine-looking tennis player and he may be even better this year. He had a nose operation this year, which may help him. Before, in some tough matches, he would be first two or three sets he would be running around with his mouth open, breathing hard."

"He goes to the Naval Academy, you know, and we think that if he can make the team, the Navy will give him about six weeks off to play in the challenge round."

She took the lead at the third hole, lost it at the fourth, went one up at the seventh with a nice par three and increased her margin to two up at the ninth.

Coming back only one hole was won, that by Miss Foster at the fourteenth. All the rest were halved although Miss Foster did get a couple of bad breaks when she could not get putts to drop. At the fifteenth she hit the hole but the ball slithered around the edge and stayed out.

The final tomorrow will be 36 holes with 18 in the morning and 18 in the afternoon.

NINE CHAMPIONS DEFEND TITLES IN TRACK MEET

LOS ANGELES, June 16 (AP).—The National Collegiate track and field championships get under way today with 200 of the country's finest athletes battling to qualify in 10 events for places in tomorrow's finals.

Can't Overlook Grant. "I don't think he'll make a singles player," Wear said. "He's a doubles player, I believe."

"Don't forget Betsy Grant in the singles. You know he hasn't lost a match any time he has played the Australians. And he's a tough opponent; he can play those easy strokes of his all day, and I've seen many opponents worn down by Betsy."

Along came Johnny Doe, who talked with Wear for a while, then went on to play his doubles match with his partner, Wayne Sabin. "They might make a good doubles combination," Wear remarked. "Sabin's steadiness and Doe's brilliant smashes should make a strong team."

Sabin's steadiness? He hasn't been steady here. "That's what they tell me," Wear said. "Sabin looks like he's drawn a little fine; perhaps that's why he hasn't been as steady as usual."

Committee Can Reconsider. Sabin also has as good a chance as any to play in the singles, Wear said. The Portland (Ore.) youth did not go abroad with Riggs this year, and it was rumored he was being overlooked by the national officials. Wear explained that. He said Riggs was the only official representative of this country abroad now, the only one the U. S. L. T. A. sent. The others went on their own. Wear said the national association could not send many abroad because tournament officials wanted them to stay in this country and play in their tournaments.

Wray's Column

June 28 to face Two-Ton Tony it will be the seventh time Joe will have risked his precious laurels since he acquired them by knocking out Jim Braddock in Chicago two years ago."

That seems to be wrong two ways. To begin with, Joe didn't risk a thing in any of those fights.

And then again his biographer seems to have forgotten that he had a champion of long ago named Tommy Burns (Noah Brusso), a Canadian by birth.

Tommy won the title in 1906 by outpointing the champion Marvin Hart in 20 rounds. In the next two years Burns fought 12 times, seven in the final year. The twelfth time he really RISKED his title, for he faced Negro Jack Johnson in his seventh 1908 effort—and was knocked out in 14 rounds.

TOMMY'S 12 OPPONENTS, except for the first and last, were very much on the order of the easy marks Joe Louis has been knocking around. The first good man he met, a lightweight named Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, fought a 20-round draw with him.

In between this draw and his kayo by Johnson Burns fought poor old Bill Squires three times, a push-over from Australia named Bill Lange, Gunner Moir, "Iron Man" Joe Grim, Jim Roche, Jack Palmer, Jewey Smith and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien again.

Because of the poor quality of his opponents, they dubbed Burns the "Cheese Champion."

Looking over Louis' conquests of Jack Roper, Harry Thomas, Al Ettore, Natie Brown and that sort, it's hard to see where his achievements were any greater than those of Burns.

But they are so accepted. It's the way Joe does his job that makes us believe him capable of higher achievements. But we doubt if his reputation will be greatly enhanced by defeating opponents who may be available this year or next.

Bill Squires or Bill Lange could have licked all the prospects in sight.

A Big Turnover. IN CASE YOU HAVE an idea that the Browns' owners haven't tried to better the club please note this—Of the entire roster of players who began the season with the club last year only five remain: McQuinn, Clift, Sullivan, Hefner and Howard Mills.

Deals have improved the club considerably, the only real asset to be traded or sold being Buck Newsom, with a record of 5 and 2 for the Tigers.

Thus far the pitching, weakest feature of the club, is little if any stronger than formerly. All the deals for hurling help have amounted to little more than swapping a lame horse for a blind mule.

No weak team's problems will ever be solved until its pitching department rises above mediocrity. What to do about it has club owners pounding their domes for an idea.

But—there's nobody home. Pulling a rabbit out of a lady's wrist watch seems just as feasible as producing an ace pitcher.

It Isn't Being Done. A RACING FAN wants to know in connection with race track "daily doubles" why Fairmount, for example, did not give the public needed information such as:

The gentleman is right, however. The public ought to know all the racing association can tell it about the betting and the horses. If bettors learned the worst they might quit bucking a sure thing.

But we know they won't quit so the poor things ought to be protected against themselves as far as possible. One of the most important sources of information is the totalizer or "tote" board. It tells the observer all about the betting, the odds, tickets sold, amount of the pool, etc., progressively.

It is absolutely accurate and it lends confidence to bettors who know that it can not be manipulated.

WOODERSON WON'T SET PACE IN MILE RACE

PRINCETON, N. J., June 16 (AP).—That long-awaited duel between the world's two fastest miler—Englishman Sydney Wooderson and Kansan Glen Cunningham—may turn out to be a blooming bust as far as a new world record goes.

"It's possible, don't you know," wee Wooderson said, "that none of the chappies will want to set the pace. I shant. My main purpose in coming to America is to beat Cunningham. Hang the time."

The British bantam—he stands 5 feet 6 in. in his 4 1/4 shoes—made record of 4:04.4, and three others in the sixth annual Princeton invitation mile run tomorrow at the fast Palmer Stadium track.

"A 60-second first quarter," said Sydney said, "would be a right," and might lead to a record, but, he added wistfully, "can't say that anybody'll lead the way."

"Woody" acknowledged the fact that you could bloody well beat Cunningham would do no pace setting.

New Sleet Record. JOPLIN, Mo., June 16 (AP).—Staten, Miami, Ok., had an undisturbed run of 100 hits at the Joplin Sleet Club range yesterday to make his string to 328 in a row and a new State record. He will compete in a meet at Tulsa Sunday.

Black has been trying to side Joe with sparring partner the approximate height and weight of Galento, but they have been floundering to locate and, once located, haven't been very well. Taylor, a roly-poly Jerseyite, to imitate Tony yesterday but ended up on the floor at the left Louis sank into his pants to the elbow.

So Joe has about been for fall back on the two husky leads who always train with him. He and Joe Nicholson, a newcomer, Eliza Thompson recently served as chief sparring partner for Max Baer. All three go to throw gloves with the champion.

ILLINOIS HOUSE PASSES COAL RESEARCH BILL

Senate Yet to Act on $300,000 Appropriation to Develop Smokeless Fuel.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 16.—A bill appropriating $300,000 for research by the State Geological Survey to develop smokeless fuels from low-grade Illinois coal was passed by the House yesterday by a vote of 84 to 21.

The bill, introduced by Representative Calvin D. Johnson of Belleville, includes $95,000 for construction of a laboratory at the University of Illinois, where the work will be done under the direction of Dr. M. M. Leighton, chief of the Geological Survey.

Dr. Leighton told the House Appropriations Committee when it had the bill under consideration that the market for Illinois coal could be greatly increased by developing processed fuel similar to coke, briquets and improved stoker fuel.

The bill was introduced after

CASEY OUT TO AMEND COUNTY SALARY BILL

A. P. KIRBY, CHAIN STORE HEIR
ALLEGHANY CORP. PRESIDENT

He Was an Associate of Robert R. Young in Purchase of Control in 1937.

NEW YORK, June 16 (AP).—Directors of Allegheny Corporation chose as president yesterday Allan P. Kirby of Wilkes-Barre, youthful heir to a chain store fortune. He succeeds George A. Tomlinson, resigned. Kirby was an associate of Robert R. Young in the 1937 purchase of Allegheny Corp. with its controlling interests in the Van Sweringen railroad properties. Kirby has been a director of Allegheny.

Tomlinson, who also withdrew as a director, was a member of the board of directors headed by George A. Ball of Muncie, Ind., which bought Allegheny Corporation control in 1934 under a foreclosure.

As successor to Tomlinson as a director of the Allegheny board elected Frank B. Bateman, said to be a friend of Kirby. Another change was the retirement from the board of Frank B. Bernard, who represented the Ball interests.

It Is Brought Up in Senate by McCormick, Who Fought Him on Police Measure.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 16.—Senator M. E. Casey of Kansas City showed an unusual interest in the House bill designed to place St. Louis County officials on a salary basis, when it was brought up for consideration today by Senator Raleigh McCormick of Webster Groves, one of the Governor's supporters in the fight for passage of the Kansas City police bill.

Casey offered an amendment to the measure which would sharply reduce the proposed salaries for the county officers. He said the compensation he suggested is virtually the same as now paid to similar officials in Jackson County.

Members of the Senate regarded the amendment as a retaliatory measure against McCormick, who fought Casey with other Senate supporters of Gov. Stark in the passage of the bill taking control of Kansas City police from the Pendergast organization, of which Casey is an old and loyal member.

With only 19 Senators present, just one more than is required for passage of a bill, Senator McCormick placed the bill on the informal calendar, stating he desired to postpone further consideration until more members were present. No action was taken on the Casey amendment.

Salary reductions proposed by Casey are: Clerk of the County Court, $6000 to $4000; Collector of Revenue, $7500 to $4000; Treasurer, $6000 to $3000; Recorder of Deeds, $6000 to $3000; Circuit Court, $6000 to $3000; Sheriff, $7500 to $5000; Coroner, $5000 to $3000, and Assessor, $7500 to $3000.

At present most of these officials are paid on a fee basis. McCormick estimated the county would save from $50,000 to $60,000 a year by placing them on salaries and requiring them to turn over all fees collected to the county treasury.

PAIR HELD ON DRIVING CHARGES

East Side Warrant Accuses Woman of Being Intoxicated.

Mrs. Augusta Amsler, who gave an address in the 5100 block on Page boulevard, was charged in warrants issued last night in East St. Louis with driving when intoxicated and reckless driving. Her companion, Walter McKinney, who also gave an address on Page boulevard, was charged with reckless driving. They were held by East St. Louis police after failing to furnish bond.

George McLemore, 1624 North Forty-sixth street, East St. Louis, said Mrs. Amsler drove on the wrong side of Collinsville avenue and ran into his machine, after which McKinney took the wheel, tried to disentangle the cars and ran into his car again.

JAPANESE FREE CAMERAMAN

TIEN-TSIN, June 16 (AP).—Eric Mayell, British newsreel cameraman held by the Japanese military since Wednesday for photographing Japanese positions near the blockaded British and French concessions, was released today.

Mayell was arrested taking pictures from the International Bridge the first day the Japanese imposed their blockade. When he protested he was on international territory, Japanese pulled him and his camera into Japanese-occupied territory and locked him up. The British Consul-General had demanded his release.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane
of Northwestern University

CASE M-142: Samuel B., aged 20, is a college senior. "Why is it that professors seem to be such poor public speakers?" he asked. "I've seen almost half the class asleep in various of my courses. And it isn't altogether our fault, though I suppose the professors try to all but out of the situation by saying we are dumb. Many of us enroll in courses which at least sound as if they'd be of interest and value. Then we find ourselves put to sleep by a monotonous delivery and long, six-syllable words.

"It seems to me that the first principle of good teaching should be the art of keeping the audience awake and enthusiastic. Many teachers seem deliberately to kill all interest in their courses. Dr. Crane, if I were president of the university, I'd fire about 60 per cent of the faculty as being incompetent. Does this sound radical?"

DIAGNOSIS: It may sound somewhat radical, but this critical analysis of the instruction which Samuel is paying good money for, is certainly a very wholesome sign. If more students would protest when they aren't getting their money's worth, it would lead to a higher type of university instruction. I realize that many complacent professors will violently oppose my position in this matter, but they are the ones who are usually the Doctors of Somnolence.

Colleges are supposed to be the citadels of liberalism, but in their educational methods and procedures they are often archaic. Students are compelled to sit through deadly lectures which the intelligent public would refuse to attend, and certainly wouldn't pay to hear. Samuel's indictment of college instruction is an excellent illustration of the psychologist's modern emphasis on the consumer survey. Psychologists have long stressed frequent market surveys in the realm of business. We urge manufacturers and retailers to analyze the customer's wants and attitudes. If the consumer dislikes the product, and offers valid objections, then it is good business to remodel the merchandise to fit the customer's wants and basic habits.

WE NEED MORE psychological surveying of educational products and of those professors who are the "manufacturers" of such merchandise. Imagine the stupidity of a professor who discusses the Chinese-Japanese affair and states that the only thing which staves off the financial collapse of Japan is "the aggregate of the instrumentalities of totalitarianism for postponing the incidence of social and economic law." I am quoting exactly from a current highbrow magazine.

Is it any wonder that students go to sleep in class, or that they graduate from such courses with little common sense? Such lectures encourage the use of long, jawbreaker words as an evidence of education.

The use of such big words is typical of children and ignorant persons. Higher education has too long been linked with a worship of big words until now the professors themselves are enslaved by the habit. In fact, I wonder if many of them aren't lulled into complacency by their own polysyllables.

Q. & A. DEPARTMENT. Dear Aunt Bella—Here are two questions which have been bothering me for quite a while and I wish you would answer. First, My wife is stepping out with a sailor. She has a good job. Should I divorce her?

Second: Do they play rugby in England? Answer to both questions: No, soccer. Aunt Bella.

DIAGNOSIS: It may sound somewhat radical, but this critical analysis of the instruction which Samuel is paying good money for, is certainly a very wholesome sign. If more students would protest when they aren't getting their money's worth, it would lead to a higher type of university instruction. I realize that many complacent professors will violently oppose my position in this matter, but they are the ones who are usually the Doctors of Somnolence.

Colleges are supposed to be the citadels of liberalism, but in their educational methods and procedures they are often archaic. Students are compelled to sit through deadly lectures which the intelligent public would refuse to attend, and certainly wouldn't pay to hear. Samuel's indictment of college instruction is an excellent illustration of the psychologist's modern emphasis on the consumer survey. Psychologists have long stressed frequent market surveys in the realm of business. We urge manufacturers and retailers to analyze the customer's wants and attitudes. If the consumer dislikes the product, and offers valid objections, then it is good business to remodel the merchandise to fit the customer's wants and basic habits.

WE NEED MORE psychological surveying of educational products and of those professors who are the "manufacturers" of such merchandise. Imagine the stupidity of a professor who discusses the Chinese-Japanese affair and states that the only thing which staves off the financial collapse of Japan is "the aggregate of the instrumentalities of totalitarianism for postponing the incidence of social and economic law." I am quoting exactly from a current highbrow magazine.

Is it any wonder that students go to sleep in class, or that they graduate from such courses with little common sense? Such lectures encourage the use of long, jawbreaker words as an evidence of education.

The use of such big words is typical of children and ignorant persons. Higher education has too long been linked with a worship of big words until now the professors themselves are enslaved by the habit. In fact, I wonder if many of them aren't lulled into complacency by their own polysyllables.

And the Sign Came

By Elsie Robinson

"MY GOD, my God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" Since history began with Eve's murdered boy, that cry has battered against God. Is there no answer? . . . no comfort beyond the disciplined mask of our own contriving? Are all the promises we heard as children only empty words? Is there no One Who really cares? No life beyond this brief agony? . . . no proof of immortal and unconquerable life and love? For millions of years, men have tried to answer that question, out of their own pity and for their own healing. But, save in the story of that first triumphant Easter, I have yet to see an answer as strong and reassuring as that recently published in The Atlantic Monthly by an anonymous writer. The author was a mother whose only son—a brilliant lad of blameless life—was murdered in a mystery yet unexplained.

Three months passed before his body was recovered from the river where it had been hidden. But neither in that body nor in the nation could that broken mother find comfort. Even her own husband's unshakable faith left her the more desolate. All these tokens of sympathy—yes, they helped. But what did they prove? Where was there something—more than words—that she could clutch and cling to?

How deeply her need will touch every other mother who has lost an only child! How plainly those other mothers will understand her desperate hunger for real and tangible proof. "Give me a sign—give me a sign!" How many will join in that cry!

And the sign came. One day, when all the walls of her own resistance had been beaten down, the truth broke through. And she saw that these countless expressions of loving kindness were not merely part of a civilized ritual—they were constant and tangible proof that God knew and cared. . . . that love and life triumph over death and mortal ignorance! "I had looked into many hearts," she writes, "but had failed to see what was pointed out to me. I had not understood that kindness and love are bright signals that the soul gives to show God's presence in the heart—as the vessel in harbor flies a pennant when the owner is aboard. All through the months of sorrow I had treasured, one by one, the gifts of sympathy. Now as I looked within my heart, I saw that all the thoughts and flowers and prayers and words were shining lights set row on row upon an altar wide and high. Because it is our nature, we shall forever question God's purpose and His plan, but I no more shall doubt His being or His love. I have seen His dearest dwelling place (in the human heart) and when I am frightened by the things I do not understand, I see the pennants flying there and know—God is!"

And never again will the heart be quite as dark for you or for me—thinking of the face that will not be waiting at the door—for we, too, have seen His pennant flying in the night.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Wynn

For Saturday, June 17. GOOD control is with us, and some of us will need it, today. If anyone is to become loose at the handle, let it be the other fellow. Let him cool off; don't pour kerosene on any fire, especially where the pocketbook is involved.

A Puzzle. Let us look far ahead for a moment. Present conditions in the world are far from ideal, all will grant; changes are needed. Will we be better off after the blood-letting of war than if all nations use their brains instead of their destructive forces? No. And everyone knows it. But we fear the other fellow; we must prepare to defend against aggression. Why do some leaders want war?

Your Year Ahead. Your year ahead can be one of progress in occupation and prestige, but only if you can avoid being missteps—regulate emotions. Be practical with own money this year. Danger: Dec. 22-31; and April 28-May 17, 1940.

Sunday. Good for wrangling with current problems, if any.

South's Expert Playing of Hand In Bridge Game

Makes Contract by Correctly Visualizing Holdings of Opponents.

By Ely Culbertson

AN expert declarer is one who can stop at a given point, near the end of a hand, and visualize the probable holdings of both defenders. It is neither possible nor important in most deals to know the exact cards; it is usually the distribution that effects the issue. Note the excellent play that the declarer in today's hand was able to make, simply because he read the situation correctly.

South, dealer.

Neither side vulnerable. ♠A86542 ♣K109 ♢Q7 ♠Q1071 ♣Q872 ♢9853 ♠9 ♣A63 ♢A2 ♠KQJ10864

The bidding: South West North East 1 club 1 diamond 1 spade 2 clubs Pass 3 clubs Pass 4 clubs Pass 5 clubs Pass

West was up against it for a good opening lead. Naturally, he was loathe to lead away from his tenace in spades or diamonds, and was particularly fond of a heart lead from the jack. After considerable thought he led a low club, feeling that this would be the least dangerous. Declarer won with the eight spot and promptly returned a trump. West climbed up with the ace, again refusing to break any side suit, and exited with the club nine. East discarded diamonds on the second and third lead of trumps, and now, when declarer continued to run off trumps, West let go the eight and four of diamonds, while East discarded another diamond and one heart. Now, with two trumps left, declarer led his singleton spade to the ace and ruffed a spade return, dropping West's king.

At this point all hands were reduced to six cards. Declarer were the A-6-3 of hearts, the A-2 of diamonds, and the six of clubs. West had held on to his three hearts, hence was now down to the K-J-10 of diamonds. Dummy's holding was one spade and the original four and five of diamonds. East had the Q-8-7 of spades, the Q-8-7 of hearts, and a singleton diamond.

Now declarer played his last trump and watched closely West's discard. West did his best to confuse the issue by letting go a heart and hanging on to his three diamonds. Declarer realized that if he were to discard the ten of diamonds, and thereby advertise that he now was down to the K-J, declarer would lead the ace and another diamond, throwing him (West) on lead and forcing a heart return. Declarer certainly would play for a divided heart honors; that is, if West returned a low heart dummy would play low and East's probable queen would be picked up; then a heart finesse would be taken against West's jack. Conversely, if West returned the ace of the diamond king, played the heart jack, declarer would go up with dummy's king and finesse against East's queen.

Hoping to avoid this obvious line of play, West deliberately held on to three diamonds. But declarer read the situation perfectly. He realized that West was now down to two hearts. Instead of attempting to throw West on lead with a diamond, which would leave him with an extra diamond trick, declarer led a low heart to the king and returned the ten spot. At this point the defenders were helpless. East could not put up the queen without dropping his own partner's jack, hence had to play low. Declarer also ducked on the near certainty that West would have to win and return a diamond. Obviously, that was the case. Winning with the heart jack, West had to return a diamond from his tenace. Dummy's queen held and now declarer had two aces for the fulfilling tricks.

I believe the affair can't be a lot about the boy who has been nagging me to get me pass up my "last chance." I know what the idealist is accepting that answer? O, yes I could have from any of happy. I'm all mixed up. C

By Phyllis Moore Gallagher

CHAPTER TWENTY-NINE

THALIA POLK ate dinner on that soft spring night in a bitter and brooding silence, though she was not alone. At the head of the long sparkling table, peering at her over low bowls of gardenias and tall candelabra, twisted and intertwined like the branches of a silver tree, sat the Senator. Mrs. Polk was not there. Thalia and her mother had quarreled endlessly all spring; indeed, straight up until this morning when Mrs. Polk had departed for Newport.

Mrs. Polk had been furious because Thalia had allowed an "in-sipid little English hussy with as much physical appeal as a poorly dressed Maypole" to annex Washington's most eligible bachelor.

"That could just as easily have been your engagement that was announced to Tony Covington," Mrs. Polk had said resentfully when she had read the announcement weeks ago. "But did you turn a hair to get him over to this house? Did you do one single thing to make him conscious of you when I managed to have him here? No, you did not! You spent all your time thinking about Hewitt Gill. And you made a fool of yourself down in Florida when he was there. Every one was laughing at you quite openly because you had not the slightest subtlety in throwing yourself at him."

Mrs. Polk had said another time: "What earthly good did it all do you, Thalia? If memory serves me correctly, Hewitt Gill hasn't been to this house once since we returned from Florida. He hasn't telephoned you. He hasn't sent you so much as a wilted dandelion! Every one says he's simply 'fried' all the time now and starts fighting in night clubs! Still you sit home, drooping, camping by the telephone. Passing up very splendid engagements simply because you think—you hope—that wretched person will call you. Well, he hasn't yet, and I don't imagine he thanked the Senator with her eyes. "I'm going to be rotten company, Dad," she had told him. "I'll hate myself for it because you're a swell guy and you don't deserve a daughter like me. But somehow I can't seem to snap out of it."

Then she was gone and Thalia

The Senator had said simply: "I know, kid. Well, battle it out on your own lines, whatever it is. And remember, if there's any part for the old man, he's here to play it." And now Thalia and her father were having dinner in silence. She glanced up at him every now and then and smiled in gratitude because he did not try to force her into conversation.

THEN she slipped back into the dark, turbid pool of her thoughts. Not very pleasant thoughts. She had made a fool of herself over Hewitt and she knew it. She had been cheap, but only because she had been desperate and had feared all along that she was playing a futile game. For a little while down in Florida things had gone as she had planned them. Lovely golden days: days of a luminous indigo. A part of each one of them had been spent on the beach, lying on an air-filled mattress with Hewitt sitting, so close, a maroon beach robe draped over his shoulders, his skin glowing with a deeply burnt tan that had made him terribly handsome.

There had been nights of magic, too; awaying palms and a sky like sequin-sprinkled blue velvet and Hewitt holding her in his arms as they glided to a rumba orchestra. There was always something about a rumba that went straight to her blood, arousing the primitive flame in it. The rhythm was as heady as wine, corrupt and completely sensual.

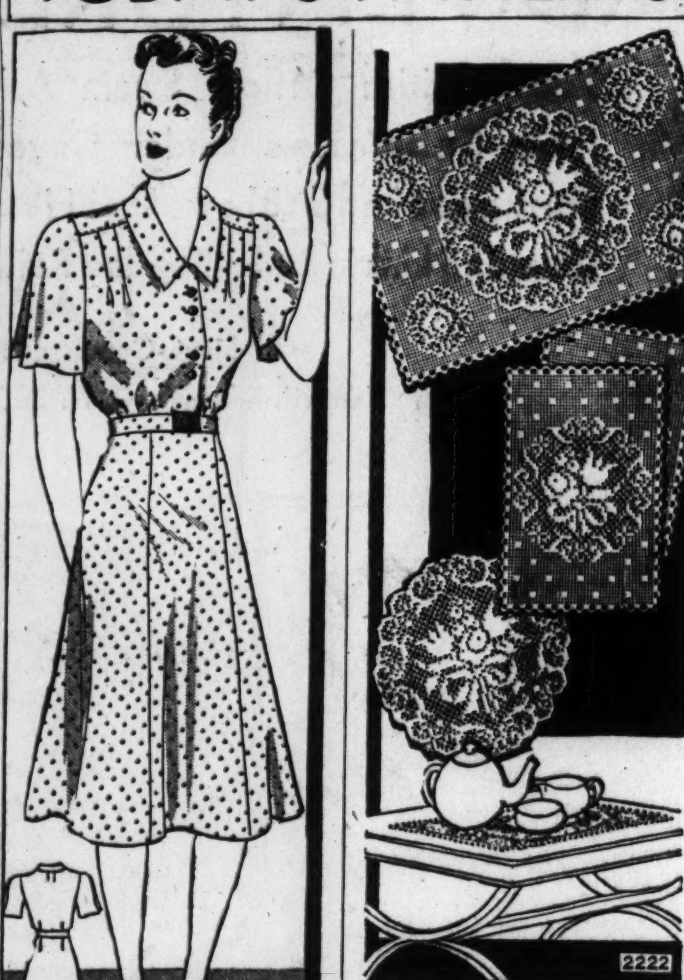

They had gone from the cabaret patio one night with the rhythm and consciousness of their closeness still in their blood. Far up the beach Hewitt had made a place for her on the sand beside him. They had sat there in the aura of hibiscus and tropical perfumes with the shimmering silver of the sea stirring in the distance.

In Washington she had camped by the telephone, scarcely going out of the house for fear she might miss Hewitt's call. Still, he did not call and all sorts of tales came to her through her friends who dropped in for tea. She shut her mind sharply on that thought. Her eyes, suddenly dim with tears, went to the chocolate frappe she had been eating without realizing it.

A long while later, Thalia and her father got up from the table. She slipped her arm through his. She said, "Some time, Dad, I'll give you the lowdown. Some time when I can talk about it—and not go to pieces."

THEY were passing at that moment through the enormous hall toward the drawing-room where a silver service of coffee waited on the low Sheraton table. They had just settled themselves on the sofa when the doorbell rang and the butler announced that Mr.

Gill was calling on Mrs. Polk. Thalia said swiftly: "Show Mr. Gill into the library, please, Dabney." Then she turned to her father, "Dad, I'd like to see Hewitt alone—for a minute. May we join you later for coffee?"

The Senator smiled. In that moment his daughter, his beloved young daughter who was the very meaning of his life, seemed washed in a sudden brilliant radiance.

At the library door, Thalia paused. Hewitt was standing by the long French window; a much thinner Hewitt—a much older one. He was sober. And his hand, holding a cigarette, had not the slightest tremble. Hewitt smiled a little when she came down the three steps. He said: "Thalia, this was a very nice surprise. I suppose, but I dropped in tonight thinking perhaps maybe you'd take pity on a guy who's been a crazy dope for months. I thought maybe you'd let me take you dancing somewhere."

Then he took her hands in his palms. Her fingers were trembling. Thalia knew; but she didn't care. "If you're willing," Hewitt was saying, gently, "I think we could have a lot of fun together from now on." What he said in itself wasn't really important; but Thalia meeting his dark eyes read an unspoken message in them. Perhaps he wasn't quite over whatever had happened between him and Peg Patterson; perhaps he never would be really. But he was very much the same Hewitt she had fallen in love with last autumn. And time—oh, time was the weaver of miracles. All she needed was Hewitt looking at her like this—and time.

Paul Stranyan's Ambassador was entertaining at a dinner in honor of a famous aviator from his homeland. He was receiving his guests in the long drawing room, ablaze with lights and scarlet flowers. The Ambassador kissed Peg's hand and presented her to his hostess, who was the wife of his military attache. In that moment Peg seemed a very self-assured and calm young lady in her trailing black dress with her fair curls piled high on her head.

But Peg wasn't calm at all. This Embassy had once been the Richards' mansion. And moving down the long drawing-room to a blue brocade sofa that stood on the identical spot where another blue-brocaded sofa with a "Do not touch" sign had stood, she sank down on it with a suddenly stirring heart. This was a different sofa and there was no sign on it now, but the drawing-room was terribly, hauntingly the same. She was thinking how many changes had come into her life since that autumn day when a young man in wedding splendor had introduced himself by saying, "Does the sign mean you or the blue-brocaded affair you're sitting on?"

And then suddenly through the fog of her thoughts she heard some one say, excitedly: "Hel-loo there, Tony! Why Evangeline, darling! But how perfectly delightful!"

Peg's eyes turned swiftly toward the center of the drawing room. The days seemed to recede, one piling swiftly upon the top of another, until it was autumn.

It was last autumn all over again, and yet how completely different. Anthony was tails now instead of wedding splendor. And he was not alone. A small blond girl had come in with him. She stood beside him now with an obvious possessive-

A few stalks of white celery filled with a tasty cheese paste and sprinkled lightly with paprika gives an added piquancy to the vegetable platter.

Really Fresh
Always give an empty bowl to the farmer to receive your order of eggs. Then put the eggs that were left over from last week on top of the new ones. In this way you will never have a couple of stale eggs at the bottom of the bowl by constantly putting the fresh on top of them.

Whiter Frocks

Cold water and white suds and a dark place to dry means keeping the white silk sports dress really white. They are so ugly when yellowed and this precaution should be taken. If washed before very soiled it is not difficult to get the soil out with colder water.

An Attractive Border

Don't perch the molded lettuce on top of the leaves of lettuce, a precarious and unattractive position. Place the mold on the plate first and then arrange the crisp lettuce leaves around it to form a perfect frame.

U. S. AND BRITISH ENVOYS CONFERENCE
IN TOKYO ABOUT
TIENTSIN TACTICS

They Exchange Information on Status of Cooperation Under Japanese Blockade—No Indication of Action Is Given.

'NOT ISOLATED' CA-BINETS AGREE

Five Key Members of Cabinet See Situation as Starting Point Revision of International Rights.

TOKYO, June 17 (AP).—
Robert Leslie Craigie, the British ambassador, and Eugene D'Auffray, United States Charge d'Affaires, discussed the Japanese dispute at Tientsin today. There was no indication of pending action by the United States. It was understood that the two powers merely exchanged information on the status of the conflict at Tientsin, under blockade by the Japanese.

Authoritative sources said
the five key cabinet ministers Navy, Foreign, Finance and Premier agreed at a conference yesterday that the Tientsin dispute would not be considered an isolated case.

It was understood that the cabinet, on the contrary, considered the dispute as offering a starting point for pressing for revision of the entire foreign settlement question in China.

Emergency Cabinet Meeting to Up Means of Acting.
LONDON, June 17 (AP).—
Cabinet members put aside usual week ends in the country to keep in close touch with situation in Tientsin.

An emergency cabinet meeting was called for Monday, but major developments would not be an earlier session.

Reports of various governments, including the British Ministry of Trade, which has been on possible retaliatory measures past two days, are to be discussed Monday. The government has given no definite indication of the nature of such measures.

It was believed to be considerable that the British-Japanese trade agreement, which Japan most-favored-nation status.

Hope was held in some quarters that Tokyo might send an extraordinary communication discussing the situation, which would be a "preliminary" or "informal" communication. It was discussed whether such a move would not mean a concession.

Mixed Tribunal Offer.
The government, meanwhile, on its offer of a tribunal, including British and Japanese members and a neutral man, to consider the Japanese dispute over four Chinese by the British and accused by Japan of terrorism in connection with the assassination of a British official.

The British refusal to have accused men over to the Japanese tribunal, precipitated the British and French in Tientsin. Since the situation has widened to involve the Foreign Office said, a desire to force the British to operate with the Japanese in the "new order" in the East, by abandoning "protectionist" policies.

This assertion was made strongly worded Foreign communication which expressed
"demands" of local Japanese authorities in Tientsin, warning the British government to consider what immediate steps they can take for protection of British interests in China, and said that the British authorities were "not regarded as the reason for imposition of measures against British concession."

Report on Warships.
There has been no official statement that Britain might use force.

This possibility was raised,
however, by reports published by Japanese news agency two British warships had been ordered to Tientsin. The Domestics said the warships had been ordered there from Weihaiweh.

British official circles said Britain was maintaining a contact with France and the United States on the situation, but
